SURVIVOR TELLS BISCAY BAY SHIP CAPTURE STORY

$5,000,000 Will Be Spent This Year On Roads in B.C.

Hon. John Hart, Back on Coast Today, Says $3,000,000 Loan Will Be Used Almost Entirely on Roads, Adding to $2,000,000 Maintenance Votes; Predicts Current Surplus of $2,000,000 in Fiscal Year

Health Insurance "In Abeyance"

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 9.—Hon. John Hart, British Columbia Minister of Finance, estimated in an interview here today the province would have a current account surplus of $2,000,000 at the close of the present fiscal year, March 31.

Mr. Hart, who has returned from eastern Canada where he spent several weeks with Premier T. D. Pattullo on provincial business, said the surplus would be used for district unemployment relief expenditures for which it had previously been necessary to borrow.

Referring to the $3,000,000 loan negotiated by the Premier and him recently, Mr. Hart said:

"The loan, floated in Toronto, was 100 per cent successful.

"British Columbia's credit has been restored and the east shows every confidence in our sound financial policy. The loan was not only well received but distributed, and it was entirely disposed of before I left Toronto. All that in face of the fact that all securities, even Dominion Government bonds, have slumped recently."

The minister said he "had pleasure" in confirming reports the $3,000,000 loan would be used almost entirely for road construction.

He said it was "possible" the provincial government would spend $5,000,000 on roads during 1937.

"The road policy the government will undertake has not yet been strictly defined, but it has been tentatively discussed by the cabinet," Mr. Hart stated.

He said any further action on institution of health insurance in the province "must remain in abeyance" until the return of Premier Pattullo, probably Friday, when a full cabinet will be able to meet and reach a final decision.

The minister said an entirely new financial alignment between Dominion and provincial government might result from conferences held in eastern Canada, but that it had been agreed no action should be taken along that line immediately.

He said Dominion authorities "tended to recognize their responsibilities" in regard to old age pensions, unemployment, health and education.

Mr. Hart left for Victoria this morning.

VERDICT ON BABY'S DEATH

Nelson Coroner's Jury Says Little Ronald Donaghy's Mother Wounded Him

Canadian Press
Nelson, B.C., March 9.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death yesterday of seven-month-old Ronald Erol Donaghy today returned a verdict that the baby "came to his death . . . by wounds inflicted by a knife in the hands of his mother."

The jury reported it "considered the mother was of unsound mind at the time."

"From evidence submitted of a previous occurrence we are of the opinion that this woman should not have been permitted the sole care of her child and that supervision should have been supplied," the verdict concluded.

POLICE CHIEF'S EVIDENCE
The jury's finding followed testimony by Police Chief Alex Stewart that when he was called to the home of Frank Donaghy, a bus driver, Mrs. Donaghy had told him she had killed the child.

"She said it was because the baby was 'going numb,' and that she herself was 'going numb,'" the police chief said, in giving evidence.

He said he had found a large knife in the kitchen and a rag which Mrs. Donaghy said she had used to clean it. Sergeant Robert Harshaw, who accompanied his superior officer to the Donaghy home, corroborated Chief Stewart's evidence.

Mrs. Donaghy, formerly of Rimby, Alta., is being held in the Nelson city jail, pending further police action.

Scottish Bus Drivers Strike

Glasgow, March 9.—Fifteen thousand bus drivers and other employees of the Scottish Motor Transport Traction Company and affiliates went on strike today, practically paralyzing inter-city road transport throughout the Scottish industrial belt and in Lancashire.

Some towns were completely isolated and it was feared the strike might involve 8,000 men when drivers on outlying routes hear of it. Glasgow and Edinburgh, served by the company's bus service locally, are not at present affected.

FLYING BOATS FORCED DOWN

Hongkong, March 9.—The British destroyer Duchess reported today she was racing to the aid of three Royal Air Force flying boats forced down in heavy weather at sea while flying from Singapore to Hongkong.

The planes were said not to be in immediate danger. A fourth plane was able to make its way to Hongkong.

The planes, en route to participate in the large-scale combined naval and military manoeuvres at the Hongkong naval base, March 21, were forced to land near Ladrone Island, fifty miles south of here.

They had been flying for some hours by wireless bearings through a dense fog before the storm forced them to come down.

Back Yard Lump Delivery

Forty-two loaded coal cars jumped the track when a New York Central train was crossing a bridge at South Byron, N.Y., stacked up in a row beside the railroad bed and scattered 2,300 tons of coal for 400 yards, shown in the picture above. The force of the crashing cars shook windows throughout the town. Coal was spilled into backyards and one car stopped within twenty-five feet of a back door.

London Report Says Baldwin is To Retire in May

He Will Cease to Be British Prime Minister and Accept an Earldom, Says Daily Telegraph

Canadian Press
London, March 9.—Retirement of Prime Minister Baldwin was forecast for the week after the coronation by The London Daily Telegraph today.

The paper said the Conservative leader would go to the House of Lords and likely receive an earldom following the precedent of Balfour and Asquith.

Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, is believed certain to retire at the same time, following the coronation May 12, the paper said. His friends do not conceal the fact he is looking forward to a complete respite from official duties although he might decide to continue to sit in the House of Commons in the role of an elder statesman.

At the time of the foreshadowed retirements Parliament will be about to recess which, The Telegraph said, would permit the government to make the essential reshuffle in an unhurried manner.

Political writers are generally agreed that Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain would be the logical successor to Mr. Baldwin. It is predicted Mr. Chamberlain, as Premier, would be determined to preserve the national character of the government. Among the first duties of the new Prime Minister would be to preside at the Imperial Conference at the end of May.

POST OF CHANCELLOR
Taking Mr. Chamberlain's succession for granted, political prognosticators are at divergence in candidates for the post of Chancellor of the Exchequer. Sir John Simon and Sir Samuel Hoare appear to be favored.

With Sir John, at present Home Office if Sir John, at present Home Secretary, goes to the Treasury.

Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, and Rt. Hon. W. S. Morrison, Minister of Agriculture, are also mentioned for the Exchequer post.

Enforcement Strengthened
"We will enforce the act," said Attorney-General Gordon Sloan today, commenting upon demands of Fraser Valley farmers that the government either enforce its marketing laws or withdraw them.

Mr. Sloan said five men had been added to the inspection and police force watching the Fraser River bridge for potato "bootleggers." Three provincial officers and the other five had been made market inspectors for the purpose and given special instructions to halt "bootlegging."

NO COMPULSORY VOTE IN CANADA

Commons Committee Unanimously Rejects Proposed Election Change; System Considered Inapplicable to Conditions in Dominion

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 9.—Compulsory voting and compulsory registration were unanimously voted down today by the Commons special committee on the Elections and Franchise Act.

The vote was taken without discussion additional to that at the committee's previous session, when Australia's experience with compulsory exercise of the franchise was studied.

It was felt the compulsory system was inapplicable in the Canadian climate and that the increased cost entailed would not be justified by the comparatively small increase in votes polled in countries where it is now in operation.

The "graft" made between some election returning officers and printers, in the printing of voters' lists, could be eliminated by a definite tariff of fees set under the Election Act, Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, told the committee.

He had found in a number of cases, he said, that from two to four cents per name had been returned to the returning officer by the printer.

Quintuplets' Bill Is Studied

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 9.—The private bill committee of the House of Commons today considered in detail a bill "for the protection of the Dionne quintuplets," vesting in their guardians the right to the use of the words "Quins," "Quints" and "Quintuplets."

To these three words the committee added the comparable French phrase, "Cinq Jumelles" (five twins).

PLAN MAY BE ON WAY OUT

Mayor McGavin Expresses Fears Fortin Refund Scheme Going "Overboard"

Belief the Fortin civic refunding plan was on its way "overboard" and that another week or so the city would have to "see what it could do without the scheme," was voiced by Mayor Andrew McGavin at last night's council meeting.

His opinion was expressed after Alderman John A. Worthington, in debate on a motion by Alderman Stanley H. Okell regarding requests to the provincial government for more generous returns of former grants, had suggested the city should "hammer for" a lower interest rate on the Fortin plan.

"We've got to keep hammering away for more assistance," Alderman Okell said at the close of his plea for greater help from the provincial government.

Alderman Worthington thought the city's efforts should be devoted more towards a campaign for lower interest under the Fortin scheme. He suggested Victoria should secure a refunding rate of 4 per cent instead of 4 1/2 per cent, noting Premier Pattullo had returned from the east with a big 3 per cent loan.

That was a short term item, Alderman J. D. Hunter, finance committee chairman, interjected.

"We'll have it thrown overboard soon," Mayor McGavin stated in reference to the Fortin plan. "It's just about that now—it will be in another week and then we'll see what we can do," he added.

In his original motion, carried without dissent, Alderman Okell suggested the city's request for a more generous return of former municipal grants be sent to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities for endorsement.

Successive governments had increased the load on the home owner, the best type of citizen, he said. At first the city had been able to levy taxes only on land and had later acquired the right of taxing a percentage of improvements. As the load became too heavy, it had secured from the province various grants, which, since 1929 had either been drastically curtailed or eliminated. Liquor profits and pari-mutuel returns had yielded $80,412.24 and $10,989.36, respectively, to the city in 1929 and had been eliminated as far as municipal grants went in 1936, he said. Motor license grants had been (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

LEAD PRICE UP $5 TON

Speculative Fever in Base Metals Continues As Copper Rises

Associated Press
New York, March 9.—The price of lead was lifted $5 a ton today by the St. Joseph Lead Company, following a boost of a similar amount yesterday by leading producers.

The new price is equal to 7.5 cents a pound, New York, and 7.35 cents, East St. Louis.

At the same time the speculative fever which has been manifest in non-ferrous metals, especially in foreign markets, continued as copper for export rose to the equivalent of 16.85 cents a pound from as low as 16.4 cents Monday.

The European armaments race is credited by trade experts with causing the wave of buying, some of it for actual metal to convert into arms, but much of it by speculators hoping to profit from this extraordinary call for metals.

The domestic quotation for copper lead was 16 1/2 cents a pound, to which it was raised yesterday from the 15-cent level, in effect since late February.

LOG SHORTAGE IN PROVINCE

Big Demand in U.S. For Canadian Lumber

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 9.—Exports of Canadian lumber to the United States have resulted in a shortage of lumber in many parts of the Dominion and an increase in price of from $5 to $10 a thousand feet in Ottawa, according to lumber merchants.

It was said the United States would take all the surplus lumber Canada could sell to that country and that a large quantity had been sold recently.

In British Columbia, the shut-down in the logging camps due to snowy weather has created a shortage of logs, provincial sources said today.

The camps on the island are now reopening and will be working full shifts shortly.

Prices for logs are generally better this year. February averages show an increase from $13.65 to $15 for fir, $13.50 to $14.25 for cedar and $7.30 to $10.50 for hemlock.

Zolotochin Inquest Verdict

Jury in Devonshire, England, Says He and Young Woman Found Drowned

Canadian Press
Dawlish, Devon, Eng., March 9.—A verdict of "found drowned" was returned today at the inquest here on the death of Constantin Serge Zolotochin and Miss Phyllis Durant, formerly of Montreal.

Their bodies were washed up near the estuary of the river Exe on Sunday along with the wreckage of a small schooner belonging to Zolotochin.

Evidence at the inquest indicated Zolotochin, who used the surname Zolo when a newspaperman in Montreal, had set a course for Clibourg, but had been driven back by bad weather. The coroner remarked it was an extraordinary thing that the yacht should have put out from Dartmouth late Friday night when the weather was so bad, but he added the reason was none of his business.

The coroner referred to Miss Durant as "Mrs. Zolotochin." The man's mother, Mrs. Zolotochin Sr., testified that as far as she knew the woman with her son was his wife.

BODY IDENTIFIED
Frank McTavish of Brompton Barracks, Chatham, a Canadian officer, identified the woman's body as that of Miss Phyllis Durant, stepdaughter of D. M. Martin of Montreal. He said he had known both the girl and Zolotochin, but could not say whether any marriage ceremony had been performed.

Mrs. Janet Zolotochin, who married Zolotochin five years ago and lives in this city, said she had no knowledge of any divorce or separation proceedings concerning herself and her husband.

Scrap Iron Is Busiest Market

Associated Press
Cleveland, O., March 9.—World demand for scrap iron is draining the rusty steel bars, old automobile engines, railroad car wheels and metal pig-iron from United States junkyards and sending prices up and up, Joseph F. Froggett, editor of Daily Metal Trade, said today.

"The scrap iron and steel situation is hotter than a poker," he said. "It's so scarce that you can hardly get it. All over the world the scrap iron tale is wagging the dog."

Story of Juan Poo, Who Swam From Ship, Indicates $2,700,000 Plane and War Munitions Cargo From New York and Mexico May Have Been Landed, Though Insurgent Cruiser Reported Vessel Had Been Sunk Off North Spain; Survivor Believes All Spaniards in Crew Were Executed and Two U.S. and Two Italian Passengers Held; Planes and Supplies Were Consigned to Loyalists

Associated Press
Arcachon, France, March 9.—Declaring he had last seen the shell-pounded trans-Atlantic munitions ship Mar Cantabrico in tow of the Spanish insurgent warship Canarias, Juan Poo, a Spanish seaman, related today a dramatic story of escape under bombardment in the Bay of Biscay.

His story indicated the Mar Cantabrico might not have been sunk and that her $2,700,000 load of American munitions might have fallen into the hands of the insurgents.

Poo, picked up out of the sea by a French fishing boat after he had leaped from the shelled and burning Mar Cantabrico, said he believed the ship's seventeen passengers and 150 crewmen had mostly been taken aboard the Canarias and that "all the Spaniards were shot." Two of the passengers were North Americans, he said.

Poo declared he had leaped overboard with an Italian sailor when he saw the French fishing boat Camille nearby. The Italian drowned, but he reached the French vessel and was hauled aboard.

He last saw the Mar Cantabrico being towed slowly by her attacker, the Canarias, in the direction of the Spanish coast, "badly damaged but not in immediate danger of sinking."

(The Canarias reported last night to a British destroyer she had sunk the Mar Cantabrico, carrying munitions from the United States and Mexico to the government of Spain.)

Aboard the Spanish freighter when she sailed from Vera Cruz, Mexico, after a dramatic flight with a cargo of material of war valued at $2,700,000 from New York harbor, January 6 while the United States Congress was passing an embargo law, were reported to be two United States, two Italian and one Spanish passengers.

CONFUSION ENDED
Definite news that the doomed munitions ship was the Mar Cantabrico ended six tense hours in European chancelleries caused by the first belief the victim of insurgent guns was a British passenger liner.

The first word bombarded, burning and sinking was signed by the call letters of the Elder-Dempsey liner Absa, home-bound from west Africa to Liverpool, and galvanized the British warships into action.

It developed the Absa had sighted the burning vessel and sent out the SOS under her own call letters.

FREIGHTERS AIDED CAPTURE
Three small Spanish insurgent freighters helped the Canarias capture the Mar Cantabrico, Poo declared. With hold-number-two-hits and a fire, the insurgents sent a boarding party on the Mar Cantabrico. They imprisoned the crew, Poo related.

It appeared, he said, that all the cargo of the Mar Cantabrico, including eight United States planes destined for government forces, might have fallen into insurgent hands.

"ADDA" PAINTED ON SIDES
The sailor asserted the long confusion in the identity of the stricken vessel was due partly to the fact that the Mar Cantabrico had painted the name "Adda of Newcastle" on her (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

New C.N.R. Capital Bill Before House

Committee Amends Reorganization Measure and Sends It Back to the Commons to Be Passed

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 9.—The railway and shipping committee of the House of Commons today completed its consideration of the bill to revise the capital structure of the Canadian National Railways and it will be reported back to the House as amended.

The bill is to eliminate publication of past C.N.R. liabilities at present appearing in both the railway balance sheet and the public accounts of its owner, the Dominion Government. It provides also for centralization of the corporate stock control, for removal from the cor-

Italy Division Fights in Spain

Whole Unit Aids Insurgents' Attack on Madrid, Say Prisoners

Associated Press
Madrid, March 9.—General Jose Miaja, directing the Spanish government defence against a major insurgent push from the northeast, declared today three Italian prisoners captured in the fighting had admitted they were part of a "whole Italian division" engaged in the offensive.

Gen. Miaja, supreme commander on the central government front, said the prisoners told him they had landed at Cadix February 22, two days after twenty-seven nations, including Italy, had agreed to stop the flow of volunteers to Spain. He said they were transferred to Seville, and then to the Madrid front.

The general also quoted the men as saying their commanding officer was an Italian. He did not give their names.

An Italian division is normally about 14,000 men, but may be more or less.

PLANES AID TROOPS
Meanwhile insurgent airplanes, backing up at least 5,000 ground troops using the most modern equipment of war, bombed the lower part of the Guadalajara highway on Madrid's northeast and killed five persons at Alcala de Henares.

Swedish Minister To Visit London

Canadian Press from Havas
London, March 9.—Swedish Foreign Minister Richard Sandler will arrive here next Monday for a three-day visit as a guest of the British Government, it was learned today.

During his visit he will be received by the King and will confer with Foreign Secretary Eden and other officials.

TO SHOW ALL AMOUNTS
Chief amendment to the bill, as originally drafted, is to have an appendix attached to the public accounts of the Dominion showing all amounts ever advanced any Canadian railway. The committee decided, however, the appendix should appear only with the Dominion's accounts and not with the railway balance sheet.

CLASH IN COMMITTEE
This proved a contentious matter since the committee began consideration of the bill and led to another clash in the committee today.

could be printed locally for seven or eight cents per name, though the lists could be done in Ottawa by the King's Printer for five cents. In 1930, ten cents had been the average paid in eastern Canada and twelve cents in western Canada.

It was a "piece of impertinence" to attempt to bring all the printing to Ottawa, asserted C. R. McIntosh, Liberal, North Battleford, Sask.

He declared a general price was set it should not be less than eight or nine cents per name.

"If they can do it in Ottawa for five cents, surely seven or eight cents is enough for the local printer," said Robert Fair, Social Credit, Battle River, Alta.

Hon. Grote Stirling, Conservative, Yale, B.C., held that if the only objections against the lists being done by the King's Printer were from local printers, that was hardly justification for the added expense of local printing.

The committee decided, on motion of George Wood, Liberal, Brant, Ont., that all lists should be printed "where such printing is possible."

In some rural ridings, particularly in the west, it was geographically impossible to assemble all voters' names, have them printed and then distributed in the time allotted, Mr. Castonguay explained.

The question of who should do the printing, whether local or in Ottawa, was left over to the next meeting of the committee.

SHORTER PERIODS
Among other changes suggested were: Reduction in the minimum interval between issuance of election writs and polling, from fifty-six to forty-two days; holding fittings of urban revision officers eight to ten days before polling day, instead of thirty-three to thirty-five days, as in 1935; a flat rate of seven cents a name for list printing.

"We left the United States with the airplanes at the very moment when Congress adopted an embargo law on arms," said Poo.

The Mar Cantabrico stopped at Vera Cruz, Mexico, where she took on other munitions. We changed the name to 'Adda' as a precautionary measure. That is a British ship of about the same tonnage.

"But the Canadians discovered the submarine and began shelling us as we were heading for Santander."

"A shell hit us and started a fire in number two hold."

"It was then that we sent out our SOS, using the call letters of the Adda."

MEAT PACKERS' WAGES RAISED

Premier Hepburn Asks Legislature to Abolish Amusement Tax and Reduce Commercial Motor License Fees by One-quarter For 1937-38

"Big Four" Companies in United States Set Higher Scale

Chicago, March 9.—Wage increases of 9 cents an hour for 22,000 employees in the United States meat packing industry were announced today by the "Big Four" packing companies.

It was estimated the pay boosts, the second within five months and the fifth since 1932, would benefit the workers' pay envelopes by $22,000,000 a year.

The increases, affecting all hourly paid and piece work employees, were scheduled as effective at the plants of Armour and Company, Wilson and Company, Swift and Company and the Cudahy Packing Company next Monday.

Officials of the "Big Four" reported the new basic wage scale would be 62½ cents an hour, an all time peak in the packing industry and an increase of 26½ cents over the low of 36 cents an hour which prevailed in 1932.

The company officials asserted the boosts were justified by the highest cost of living.

LOANS TO B.C. ARE RENEWED

Federal Order Covers $1,110,966; New Loan to Saskatchewan $652,000

Ottawa, March 9.—A new relief loan of $652,000 to Saskatchewan and renewal of four relief loans totaling $1,110,966 to British Columbia were authorized by the government in two Orders-in-Council tabled in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

The Saskatchewan loan is to cover that province's share of relief payments made during November and December.

The British Columbia loan renewal, as of March 25, four loans maturing March 1, 8, 14 and 25 respectively.

The relief loans to British Columbia authorized by the Ottawa government are simply renewals of treasury notes expiring this month and do not entail fresh borrowing by the province, the treasury explained.

British Columbia now owes Ottawa upwards of $30,000,000 in treasury bills and these are renewed from time to time.

Strikers Talk With Chrysler

Officials of Big Company Meet Leaders of Idle Men at Detroit

Detroit, March 9.—The United Automobile Workers of America, seeking to enforce demands for exclusive bargaining rights by sit-down strikes affecting nearly 75,000 workers in this automotive centre of the United States, arranged a conference today with officials of the Chrysler Corporation.

Richard T. Frankenstein, organizational director of the U.A.W., said the meeting would be held this afternoon.

He made the announcement a little more than an hour after K. T. Weiler, Chrysler Corporation president, attempting to enter the offices, was turned back by pickets who had barricaded the main gate.

Keller said that "from now on, they deal with the courts."

Frankenstein, in a telephone conversation with Herman L. Wecker, Chrysler vice-president, expressed regret at the incident and assured Wecker it would "not happen again."

The union leader said the barricades would be removed and the corporation officials and their staffs would be admitted.

GOVERNOR FLIES BACK
Governor Frank Murphy, who devoted his first six weeks in office to settling the far-flung General Motors strikes, announced at Palm Beach, Fla., where he was vacationing, that he would fly back to Michigan immediately because of the new labor disputes.

All nine of the Chrysler plants were closed by strikes called by the United Automobile Workers of America. They employ 55,391 of the 67,000 Chrysler workers.

The Chrysler plant at Newcastles, Ind., with 4,160 employees, was closed by the company, which said it could not continue operations without supplies from Detroit units.

The Briggs Manufacturing Company, which supplies Chrysler with bodies, closed one Detroit plant and part of another, throwing 4,500 out of work.

HUDSON PLANTS CLOSED
The Hudson Motor Car Company's three manufacturing plants here also were closed by U.A.W. strikes, leaving 10,000 idle. Two small auxiliary factories, employing 300 each, were not affected.

Rail Heads And Ministers Talk

C.P.R. and C.N.R. Presidents Visit Ottawa on Wage Question

Ottawa, March 9.—Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and S. J. Hunsinger, president of the Canadian National Railway, conferred today with Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice and Acting Prime Minister, Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, and Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor.

No statement was made, but it was understood the threatened strike of railway employees was discussed.

Montreal, March 9.—Balloting of Canadian railway union men to give their executives power to call a strike was believed to have been virtually completed today with arrival of several union heads in Montreal.

FRANCE DROPS U.S. LOAN PLAN

New York Bank Will Not Handle Defence Subscriptions

Paris, March 9.—A proposal by the French government that an unidentified New York bank handle its new national defence subscriptions in the United States has been dropped because of American objections, official sources said today.

"As far as we know, however, there is nothing to prevent Americans from buying through a United States branch in Paris or through British banks," a government spokesman said.

But it is almost certain the loan, to be announced Thursday after the French parliament has passed enabling legislation, will be covered by French money, the spokesman predicted.

WANT $583,000,000
Measures introduced in the Chamber of Deputies today to raise the interest rate or the amount of the loan, although discussion in parliamentary finance committees indicated 13,000,000,000 francs ($583,000,000) would be sought.

Since the government has agreed to use the revenue solely for extraordinary defence credits, passage of the bills was considered a certainty.

A $50,000,000 subscription to the defence loan was reported earlier to have been pledged by the Paris branch of a United States bank after Premier Leon Blum's government had asked quick passage of the bills authorizing the issuance of bonds which would be repayable in dollars and pounds sterling, as well as francs, for the benefit of foreign investors.

MADMAN SHOTS DENVER OFFICER

Denver, Colo., March 9.—A crazed former special policeman shot and killed one Denver officer and seriously wounded another when they answered a call to his home, and then committed suicide, Deputy Coroner George Economy said today.

The patrolman slain was F. E. Sawyer, a veteran of the Denver force. Economy identified the other dead man as Fred Stallings, one time special officer employed by a grocery firm.

The wounded man was Michael Carroll, a new policeman.

EARTH SHOCKS DURING NIGHT

Tremors Felt in Central Canada and U.S. Midwest Due to Glacial Fault in Ohio

Chicago, March 9.—Seismologists concurred today in ascribing earth shocks felt in Canada and in seven midwest states shortly before last midnight to disturbance of glacial formations in northwest Ohio.

Seismograph records in several cities affected by the tremors and at Harvard University disclosed the shocks occurred at 1:45 p.m. C.S.T. and continued with varying intensity for from two to fifteen minutes.

The expert consensus was that the shocks bore close similarity to those experienced in the midwest last week, but were slightly greater in severity. Both disturbances were termed "moderate" and traced to rock crust upheaval.

The latest series of tremors were distinctly felt, but caused negligible damage, in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ontario.

Chicago residents told of vibratory shocks.

RECORDED HERE
A mild earthquake was recorded on the seismograph of the Victoria Meteorological Observatory at one minute before 11 o'clock, Pacific Standard Time, last night. The centre of the tremor, was estimated by A. Thorne, superintendent of the observatory, to be in Ohio. The record was not clear, he said.

Earth tremors that shook widely separated areas of Canada and the United States yesterday and today left one dead and widespread, minor property damage.

Following by about twenty-four hours the shocks that rocked the San Francisco Bay area, tremors early today shook towns in southern Ontario and cities in Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Michigan, Kentucky and California.

Lone fatality was a resident of Berkeley, California, who was killed when he fell over a banister as he attempted to flee from his home.

Over a vast expanse of the United States and Canada buildings shook, sleeping citizens were awakened, furniture rattled in homes in the affected area and merchandise displayed in many stores were scattered by the shocks.

Switchboard operators in newspaper offices, police stations and telephone exchanges were swamped by calls as first shocks were felt in Lexington, Ky., shortly before midnight. Simultaneous tremors were reported from Columbus, O., Cleveland, Toledo and Lima. No severe damage was reported immediately.

FELT IN ONTARIO
Tremors came to southeastern Michigan shortly after midnight and were felt slightly in St. Thomas, Ont., and London, Ont.

The shocks continued intermittently for about four hours.

At Berkeley, near San Francisco, where shocks reminiscent of but only half as severe as the disastrous 1906 earthquake had struck earlier, Prof. Perry Byerly of the University of California, said the epicentre was within twenty miles of that city.

Hundreds of residents were reported to have awakened out of San Francisco when the earth shook there. Only slight damage was reported, however.

YOUNG WOMAN TELLS OF BRANDING

Portland, Ore., March 9.—A strange complaint of the alleged branding of a night club hostess brought Captain Robert W. McLaughlin, middle-aged river boat pilot, to the city jail today for questioning by the district attorney.

Detective H. H. Horack said the captain was detained on an open charge after Yvonne de Noyse, twenty-eight, said she had applied a brand to her back and arm last Thursday night when she repulsed him at his hotel room. Horack quoted the woman as saying she had been afraid to report the alleged incident until yesterday.

Last night she was taken to a hospital. The detective said the burns apparently were not serious.

The captain denied the act and told detectives Miss de Noyse must have been burned by accident when he was not present.

Hotel attendants said they heard no screams nor sounds of a struggle.

The detective did not know what was used to inflict the alleged brand.

TROOPS SENT TO NORTHERN INDIA

London, March 9.—A British expeditionary force, including field artillery and auxiliaries, has been dispatched to Waziristan on the north-west frontier of India to put down a new tribal rebellion, Reuters' News Agency reported today from Warisipindi.

Authorities said a fakir calling himself the "Champion of Islam" had arisen in the border country and is inciting the tribes to revolt by describing the British government as "the ally of the Hindus."

Yesterday Sir H. Aubrey Metcalf, Foreign Secretary of the Indian government, admitted, according to Reuters, that two British officers had been killed and $450,000 had been spent in military operations in Waziristan.

War-time Convoy Head Is Recalled

Canadian Press
London, March 9.—Paymaster-Rear-Admiral Sir Eldon Manly, sixty, organizing manager of convoys during the latter part of the Great War and largely responsible for the success of the convoy system, today was recalled from retirement to serve at the Admiralty.

Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced a committee had been formed of representatives of the Admiralty, the Board of Trade and shipowners to ensure co-operation in wartime for the protection of shipping.

Sir Eldon retired in 1932.

PARTY GREETS MRS. SIMPSON

She Arrives at Chateau de Conde Near Tours, France, May Be Wed to Ex-king There

Monte, France, March 9.—Mrs. Wallis Simpson arrived today at the Chateau de Conde to join a house party and stay for an indefinite period.

She drove up to the chateau with a man believed to be Herman Rogers of New York, who with Mrs. Rogers was host to Mrs. Simpson on the Riviera.

A large house party had awaited Mrs. Simpson's coming to this part of Touraine, in west central France.

The Chateau de Conde, where Mrs. Charles E. Bedaux welcomed her guests, was decorated with $450 worth of flowers in honor of the bride-to-be of the Duke of Windsor.

WEDDING DISCUSSION
Residents in this little town, approximately ten miles south of Tours, expressed hope the wedding of the Duke and his fiancée would be celebrated in France.

One report was that the Duke of Windsor had purchased Chateau de Conde from its American owner.

Mrs. Charles E. Bedaux is the wife of the noted explorer and industrial engineer of New York.

CHATEAU MADE READY
Havas News Agency
Tours, France, March 9.—The Chateau de Conde, reportedly purchased by the Duke of Windsor from its United States owner, Charles E. Bedaux, was made ready today for the arrival of Mrs. Wallis Simpson from Cannes.

The wedding of Mrs. Simpson and the Duke of Windsor will be held in the chateau's small chapel, it was reported.

It was learned Mrs. Bedaux recently engaged more than twenty domestic servants.

All these facts were interpreted as indicating Mrs. Simpson will make a long stay here.

NEAR COTY CHATEAU
A showpiece of France's faded chateau country, the renaissance-style mansion lies on the banks of the Indre River, near the Chateau du Puy-à-Art, once owned by the French perfume maker Francois Coty.

Its purchase from Charles E. Bedaux, by the former king as the permanent home he will make after Mrs. Simpson's divorce becomes final in April could not be confirmed at the chateau today. A spokesman declared he knew "nothing about it."

MRS. SIMPSON MOTORS
Mrs. Simpson meanwhile motored here with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers of New York after leaving their Villa Lou Vieil at Cannes, where she went into seclusion just before Edward's abdication. It is her first trip away from the Riviera since she left England.

It was understood the Rogers have long been friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bedaux. Mr. Bedaux, now in New York, has attracted wide attention in recent years both for his scientific expeditions and his invention of a "human efficiency machine" used in computing manpower in industry.

Attempts to introduce the Bedaux machine in Italian factories some time ago caused protests from workers. It was reported. The Bedaux expedition to the interior of Northern British Columbia in 1934, which ran many dangers, brought him increased prominence.

New C.N.R. Capital Bill Before House

W. A. Walsh, Conservative, Montreal-Mount Royal, contended the committee did not have power to accept an amendment respecting transfer to the consolidated debt of about $353,000,000 of past indebtedness to the Dominion.

He argued this was a fundamental question with respect to the bill. It extended beyond the C.N.R. accounts themselves into the accounts of the Dominion, something, he said, only Parliament itself could deal with.

The Montreal member suggested the first decision of the committee be delayed until an "unbiased" expert could be called to give an opinion as to the proper method of revising the railway system's capital structure, but when asked if he wished to make a formal motion that an expert be called he declined.

The chairman decided the committee was against it.

NEW ANGLE IN MATTSON INQUIRY

Vancouver, Wash., March 9.—United States federal agents appearing here suddenly today questioned Joe Murphy, forty, alias Jack Pence, in his cell at the county jail for half an hour in connection with the Mattson kidnapping-slitting case, then departed by automobile with him for Tacoma.

R. E. Brady, chief deputy sheriff, said the investigators told him they were going to put Murphy in a line-up before the children who saw the kidnapper snatch little Charles Mattson from his Tacoma home last December.

Gray Hair
Best Remedy is Made At Home

You can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy by following the directions on the box of Water and one ounce bay rum, a small bit of Orin Compound and one-fourth ounce of olive oil. Mix and use at night. You can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. Orin imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and shiny. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Boy Injured By Beach Log

Ganges, March 9.—While playing on the beach on Sunday the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Shipley, Vesuvius Bay, sustained severe injuries when a log rolled down an incline and pinned the child beneath it. The boy was rushed to hospital where it was found he had sustained a broken thigh and other injuries. He was taken by special ferry, to Rest Haven Sanatorium at Sidney, where an X-ray was taken.

Urges Scientific Social Approach

Pattern For Progress Seen By Speaker in Engineering Development

An expression of a hope that man would learn to apply to the social sphere the principles which have guided the enormous scientific, engineering and industrial development of the last century marked a lecture delivered before an audience of 100 at Girls' Central school last night by Professor H. J. MacLeod, M.A., Ph.D. The speaker, who is head of the department of mechanical and electrical engineering at the University of British Columbia, contributed an address on "Mechanical Invention and the Conquest of Distance" to the University Extension Society's current series on the Georgian period. No engineer, he said, had ever made nature do what it did not want to do, but man in the engineering field had mastered the art of working in harmony with nature and providing the proper environment for it to work to his own ends. He urged that the lesson of "arranging man's environment with singleness of purpose" be learned by humanity, and added: "We need more research in the science of man." There was no more a magic road to social security and happiness than there was to the conquest of plague or the control of natural forces, he warned.

SCIENTIFIC HERITAGE
 Professor MacLeod gave to his audience a picture of the scientific heritage on which the engineering achievements of the reign of King George V had been built, then traced a few specific cases of mechanical and electrical progress during the quarter-century reign. Defining engineering in the words of the century-old charter of Britain's Institution of Mechanical Engineers as "the art of directing the great sources of power in nature for the use and convenience of man," he said: "Every great civilization has risen on the foundation of engineering of some sort." For his background he went back to the last irrigation projects, buildings and mathematical knowledge of the Egypt of 1,800 years before Christ, then to the sea power and architecture of the Greeks and to the roads, bridges and aqueducts of Rome. At the height of its power ancient Rome used far more water in proportion to its population than the city of Victoria did today, he told his audience, and then went on to point to the lesson of that civilization which turned much of its engineering into the service of war, and which in its decline handed on to its people not only the necessities but also the luxuries of life and sought universal wealth in devalued currency. The change from man to mechanical power had not come suddenly at the time of the Industrial Revolution, but progressively right through the history of the development of western Europe. But the steam engine, which at last provided a reliable source of power instead of the vagaries of wind and stream, had only been born 150 years ago. The steam engine was the first example of science directly affecting the lives of millions. Although the reign of King George V started after the coming of the railway, the telephone, the telegraph, the radio, the airplane and dozens of other inventions, the progress in its twenty-five years had been enormous, said Professor MacLeod. With the help of a series of slides he showed typical examples of that progress. Among the cases which he quoted were the national development of electric power, the use of alloys to serve every type of purpose, the growth of aviation from the first meet at Rheims in 1909, when the speed record was forty-seven miles an hour and the altitude mark 500 feet, to the eighteen-ton 200-mile-per-hour flying boats of today, the growth of spoken communications with the vacuum tube as its base, and the conquest of disease. "One of the most striking social changes in King George's reign," he said, "was the use of great scientific inventions by the general public." This change had been achieved by good minds, thoroughly trained, working in a multitude of different spheres yet in co-operation with each other to a common end. They were men whose names rarely appeared in type and who rarely came forward to the footlights to take their bow, but who, by their approach to science not as an end but as a means to an end, had set an example for the social as well as the material development of the world.

Joseph George Freed From Jail
 Indian, Held For Nearly Three Years at Oakalla, Released By Mr. Justice Fisher

Canadian Press
 Vancouver, March 9.—After nearly three years' imprisonment, Joseph George, forty-four-year-old Coldwater, B.C. Indian, was released from custody yesterday by order of Mr. Justice Fisher in the assize court here. Discharge of George followed stays of proceedings—pending murder charges against the prisoner and his brother, Alex, twenty-three, entered by J. R. Nicholson, who appeared for Attorney-General Sloan. Alex was returned to the Oakalla Jail to serve a sentence of life imprisonment for the murder of Dominion Constable P. H. Oisbourne at the Canford Reserve, twelve miles from Merritt, B.C., on May 23, 1934. Two other brothers, Eneas and Richardson, were executed at the Oakalla prison for the crime. The stays of proceedings were entered yesterday to indictments charging Joseph and Alex with the murder of Provincial Constable Percy Carr, slain with Oisbourne in an attack with Indians at Canford, nearly three years ago. Alex has remained in the Oakalla jail and not been removed to New Westminster penitentiary owing to ill health. The crown, through Mr. Nicholson, also entered a stay of proceedings to a perjury charge arising out of the last George brothers' trial against Joseph Edwards, crippled Indian. Stuart Henderson of Victoria and Henry Castillou appeared for the Indians. Mr. Castillou explained to Joseph George that he had been freed and left the court with him.

Girl Burglar Is Aided By Dog

Budapest, March 9.—Ilona Serfocse told police yesterday her dog, which barked once when he sighted a civilian and twice when a policeman was coming, should really have credit for the thirty burglaries she confessed.

It the job seemed difficult, she explained, she even let the dog climb through open apartment windows and carry things down while she watched outside.

SIR A. E. KIRSON, GEOLOGIST, DIES

Beaconsfield, Eng., March 9.—Sir Albert Ernest Kitson, sixty-eight, one of the world's outstanding geologists, died yesterday. Sir Albert was a delegate to the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress in Canada in 1927 and attended the International Geological Congress at Toronto in 1913. His important discoveries included black and brown coalfields and oil-shale deposits in Nigeria; manganese, diamond and bauxite fields in the Gold Coast and glacial and fossil beds in Victoria (Australia), Tasmania and the Gold Coast.

Premier, in Montreal on Way Home, Says B.C. Supports Federal Moves

Canadian Press
 Montreal, March 9.—Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia strongly favors Canada's adoption of "adequate" defensive measures. After a brief visit here he started for home yesterday. "Exposed as British Columbia is, we have a full appreciation of the necessity for defensive measures," he explained in an interview here. "In a

BIG INCREASE IN RADIO SETS

Dominion Figures Show 17 Per Cent Increase in Licenses

Up to February 27, Victoria took out almost 7.3 per cent more radio receiving licenses this year than last, but fell far short of the national increase of more than 17 per cent, statistics released by the Dominion Department of Transport show. Licenses issued for private receiving sets in Victoria for the year 1935-36 numbered 9,937. Licenses issued, to February 27, for 1936-37 numbered 10,661. British Columbia's increase from 80,205 to 90,250 also was about 5 per cent lower than the Dominion mark. The greatest increases, mirroring perhaps improved service by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, took place in Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Alberta and Nova Scotia. Licenses issued in Saskatchewan rose more than 32 per cent. Blind persons in Canada received free of charge 756 licenses for radio receiving sets. In 1935-36 the number of licenses issued to blind persons totaled 2,314. This year the total number of licenses issued in the Dominion passed over the million mark, with 1,012,380 permits granted. Canada with one radio to ten persons, has far to go to equal Great Britain's record for this year of one radio to every 5.3 persons.

BIG DIAMOND REPLICA HERE
 Duplicate of World's Largest Stone at Rose's Jewelry Store

The world's biggest diamond, the famous Cullinan I, which is set in the Royal Sceptre and soon to be part of the regalia in the Coronation ceremonies, may be seen in replica at the store of Joseph Rose Limited, 1013 Government Street. This stone holds more than usual interest apart from its size, which alone makes it the most wonderful jewel known to living man. The manner of its finding is a fairy story of amazing chance. In 1905, Fred Wells, a manager at a South African mine, happened to walk along an embankment, where his eye was caught by a stray gleam from the gem. Casually he bent over it, to realize the true nature of his find only after picking it out with a pocket knife. When registered, the gem weighed 9,024 carats, three times the size of any other diamond that had been discovered. The world-wide interest that resulted from the find brought Wells a handsome reward, and the jewel was sent to London. It was separated into nine fragments, work on the largest of which continued for seven months. It is now the chief ornament in the hands of the Royal Sceptre and plays an historic part in the Coronation ceremonies. A negro preacher was interrupted by two dogs fighting in the church porch. "Brothers an' sistahs," he said, decisively, "Ah can see yo' attention has strayed from this book, so Ah closes it. But Ah opens this one, an' right now Ah lays five to four on the black dawg."

And All For "Defence"

ORDINARY PEOPLE IN GREAT
Britain who want to live in peace obviously are getting uneasy about a $2,000,000,000 loan for armaments and the prospect of spending, in the next five years, another $5,500,000,000 on what is euphemistically called "defence."

Britain's government "White Paper" has this to say: "Modern forces, whether on land, at sea, or in the air must, if they are to be effective, be provided with arms and defences more ingenious and more formidable and far more costly than any conceived a generation ago. The expenditure will apply to all three services, but the heaviest immediate increase will be for the navy. Three more capital ships costing about $8,000,000 each are to be ordered soon, and all warships are to have improved defence against aircraft. The White Paper stresses that Great Britain has become increasingly vulnerable to air attack and adds:

"The strength of the Royal Air Force has become a matter of paramount importance and no effort has been or is being spared to bring it up to the strength and standard of efficiency which the government deem requisite for our safety."

The White Paper speaks of the "formidable nature of the task confronting the government," and in dealing with the cost adds:

"It is probable that the level of expenditure over the next two or three years, at least, will be very much heavier than in the current year. It is not at present possible to determine what will be the peak year of defence expenditure. Deeply as they deplore the necessity for vast expenditure on armaments and other defensive measures, the government are convinced that it must be undertaken. It is forced on them by the circumstances of the time."

Then we get this, potent facts for British taxpayers and those in Canada who want to direct the British Admiralty's policy from the shores of the Pacific. It is headed: "Where Your Money Goes" and reads:

"Expenditure (next five years) £1,500,000,000—£400,000,000 to be met by loan."

"Navy (1937 programme)—Three new capital ships costing £8,000,000 each, seven cruisers, two aircraft carriers, existing vessels to be modernized, large increase in personnel, substantial increase in fleet air arm."

"Army—Two new tank battalions, modernization of all arms, complete system of motor transport, immense reserves of ammunition, increase of strength, equipment of territories with army's weapons, modernization of barrack accommodation."

"Royal Air Force—Large numbers of new aerodromes, seventy-five operational training and other stations at home and abroad, large increase of personnel."

So go the modest earnings of the British taxpayer.

Still—What Does It Want?

IN THESE COLUMNS YESTERDAY we referred to the peculiar attitude of The Vancouver Daily Province toward governments in general—particularly to those which are of the responsive kind. For example, dealing specifically with a recent announcement that British Columbia had been able to dispose of the open market $3,000,000 at 3 per cent, three-year debentures at a cost to the province of 3½ per cent, it said Premier Pattullo and Mr. Hart went east with the intention of securing $5,000,000.

We would like to know the authority for such a pronouncement. While it is true that a borrowing sanction was secured during the last session of the Legislature for an amount of $5,000,000, no statement was ever made that it was contemplated to borrow immediately the whole amount. A borrowing permit naturally is an indication of requirements and not a mandatory policy.

The deplorable state of some of our highways in British Columbia, of course, has been a matter of comment for a number of years. If British Columbia is to accord its own people the right kind of transportation means, if it is to retain not only the present volume of tourist traffic, but also to increase it to the volume it should be, one of the primary duties of the province to effect the much-needed improvement or reconstruction of highways, bridges and roads.

The Vancouver Daily Province editorial states that the service cost of British Columbia's public debt was at the rate of nearly 5 per cent. If this statement refers to the interest paid on that debt, it does not agree with Mr. Hart's announcement during the last session of the Legislature to the effect that the average interest rate on our provincial debt was but a fraction over 4 per cent.

It is rather an extraordinary position for one of the leading newspapers of the province to take that moneys spent on tangible improvements should be interpreted only as a means of winning the electorate. Apart from the attempted criticism of the government, the implied reflection on mentality of voters in the province naturally will be deprecated strongly.

Saving Spain

A COLLECTION OF OFFICIAL proclamations assembled by the No Frontiers News Service from General Franco, Queipo de Llano and other leaders of the combined insurgents and Italian Fascist and German Nazi invaders is revealing.

Proclamation by Queipo de Llano: "For our final victory, three or four million Spaniards must die. If they do not die on the field of battle, I promise on my honor that they will be shot by our legionaries and our Moroccan troops."

Proclamation by Franco: "The bombardment of Madrid will be continued until the city surrenders. We shall have to destroy one part of the town after another."

Proclamation to the Moroccan mercenary troops: "Soldiers, forward to the storming of Madrid! In a week we shall set you free, and then you can do as you like. In Madrid there is everything. If you like a thing and want it, we shall close our eyes."

Thus is Spain to be saved!

The Friendly Touch

TWENTY-EIGHT-YEAR-OLD James de Wolf Perry, described in dispatches from New York as "the proudest curate in America," has been invited by the Archbishop of York to serve as one of his chaplains at the coronation of King George the Sixth.

The Rev. Mr. Perry is said to be a humble, hard-working member of the staff of the Episcopal Church at Norfolk, Virginia. He was astonished one morning to receive, unheralded, a letter from Dr. Temple asking him to take part in the greatest ceremony of the century. The Archbishop's invitation was a tremendous surprise. "I could hardly believe it was true," he said. "I met Dr. Temple when he was visiting America, and accompanied him on part of his tour in Virginia."

Mr. Perry spent a year at Cambridge University. His father, Right Rev. James Perry, is the presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church.

Letters To The Editor

THE BISHOP OF LONDON IS shocked because he got fifty letters—horrid ones—about, as we are told, his "Onward Christian Soldiers" appeal. This was the clarion call to more noble things.

Then a London editorial writer threw this idea into the market place of public opinion: "What number? Fifty letters."

"We invite the Bishop to a newspaper office—to scrutinize the postbag whenever that newspaper says anything controversial."

"Fifty letters? My lord, we have 500, 5,000, 50,000."

All this goes for the newspapers throughout Canada, not, by any means, excluding The Victoria Daily Colonist and The Victoria Daily Times.

Better Housing Tenants

MANY FOES OF SLUM CLEAR-ance and rebuilding projects contend that such work does little lasting good. Slums and decrepit houses are at least partly due to the negligence of the people who inhabit them, these critics contend, and it is only a matter of time until their carelessness brings their new quarters down to the slum level.

However, Captain R. L. Reiss, member of the London Housing Authority, now touring this continent, does not agree. On the experience of the Housing Authority which has built 65,000 units housing some 300,000 persons since the World War, Captain Reiss is able to say:

"In Great Britain we have found that nine out of ten residents in new dwellings are good tenants. Of the remaining 10 per cent, about half make good tenants if they have good management. The rest are a problem. But there should be no argument about providing homes for the rest because of these problem persons, should there?"

Advocates everywhere of slum rehabilitation and better housing generally will echo his contention.

Notes

The Fortin plan promises to be as lively an issue in municipal politics for months to come as the London trip in the last civic election.

A 400-pound actress demands annulment of her marriage to a fifty-pound midget. It is a bit too late for him to square things with the little woman.

The end of the sitdown strike in some of those factories is a break for the night watchmen, who now can go about their duties without tripping over the personnel.

Hon. Ernest LaPointe, Minister of Justice, is now dean of the House of Commons, following the death of Hon. Charles Maclellan. Mr. LaPointe was first elected to the House in February, 1904, from the county of Kamouraska, which he represented until 1919 when he moved, and has held since the Quebec East seat, formerly held by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

In his latest article, Roger W. Babson, economist and statistician, warns of the dangers of another "boom." He points out that business today is just about "normal" but signs are not lacking that the upward pendulum of industry may culminate in another prosperity era and a subsequent depression exceeding in intensity the last such cycle. Mr. Babson offers the following advice: "I believe that if we are crazy enough to push our present potentialities to the limit of over-expansion, the reaction from such a boom might knock out every spoke in the business cycle and shake civilization itself."

Loose Ends

The atoms drift about, helpless and alone—growing fat and enervated in the process—and no one cares—least of all the folks back home—but the members work, and much harder than the electors ever imagine.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OTTAWA.

ATOM

NOTHING, I should think, is quite so helpless and pathetic as the government official from the West down to Ottawa on a Mission. He may be a big shot at home. He may be a minister, with hordes of officials, clerks and office boys under him. He may order his staff around and even be master in his own home. But here he is an atom, a helpless speck of drift in the ocean of federal politics.

Nobody pays any attention to him. No one has ever heard of him. No one knows when he drifts in and when he drifts out again. He has business here which, in Victoria, would require an hour of talk between two or three men. Here it cannot be done in as many weeks. He may have to wait a week before he can see the man he wants. If it is a cabinet minister, he may wait two weeks. Then it will be necessary to postpone consideration of his business until after the budget debate, or until after the minister has got his estimates through the House, because a minister with estimates to pass through the House is like a poet in the throes of composition. He cannot discuss the finances of British Columbia, the relief situation in Alberta, or the drought in Saskatchewan. He can hardly breathe until his estimates are through.

WAITING

SO the poor westerner sits about the Chateau Laurier day after day, waiting, waiting. It is fine at first—the swell seven-course meals, the French waiters who have an air with them, the superb luxury of this gigantic hostelry, the impressive staterooms circulating about in their perfect orbits, the ladies dressed so much better than our own West, more skillfully rouged, and cold as their winter climate.

It is fine at first to float about this Babylon, to feel that you are in the heart of things, in the centre of vast intrigue, close to the national secrets, within a stone's throw of the Prime Minister's office, separated from the inside story by only two feet of grey stone. But in a week the westerner is tired of it. He finds himself always in a crowd but always lonely, unnoticed, a poor lost atom. He begins to long for his office pals, even his family.

He can't fill the time. Why, this Chateau is packed now with a vast pliable swarm of western atoms, who lounge about in the lobby all day or go for a walk on the icy pavements, or spend their time in equal boredom in the galleries of the House of Commons and the movie houses on Sparks Street.

They grow bored and disgusted, and they grow fat. The head waiter here assures me that he knows by long observation that an average westerner puts on ten pounds in two weeks at the Chateau. The poor fellow can't help it. There is nothing to do but eat and wait, and the more you wait the more you eat, until by the time you leave here you are fat and soft and so homesick that you vow you will never leave the West again.

WORKERS

DON'T IMAGINE, however, that this is the life of the member of Parliament. He is a busy man. If he attends to his job his voice may never be raised in the Commons. He may never get into the headlines. He may be forgotten entirely by the electors, but he is working from morning to late at night.

In the morning when he trudges up the icy slope of Parliament Hill and hurries himself through the revolving bronze doors into the grey stone and marble magnificence of the centre block, he finds his desk deep with letters from people he has never heard of. Apparently back in the stacks they write the member of Parliament for the district every time the cow calves and the kids get tonsillitis. One B.C. member showed me a letter from a fellow who protested that he had been courting the postmaster's daughter for two years and she wouldn't have him, and couldn't the member do something right away about a postmaster whose daughter was refusing to co-operate with the Grand Old Party?

Every letter must be answered, usually in the negative, with such diplomatic perfume that the folks back home will think it is an affirmative. And with most letters the member begins to enclose a copy of Hansard reporting his recent speech on the dipping of sheep or the improvement of rural mail services. This is to show the folks back home that he has not been idle.

Then at 11 o'clock there is some committee where the member will sit until 1 o'clock, listening to endless wrangles, weeks of evidence from experts. At 1 o'clock he goes upstairs to the restaurant for a fifty-cent lunch worth one dollar, and this is a pleasant break. The restaurant is jammed with statesmen and near-statesmen and beautiful ladies and cold turkeys and ducks glazed over with shiny sauce.

At 3 o'clock the bell-rings and then the member has to sit in the House, with an occasional ten minutes off for a smoke behind the curtains, until 6 o'clock. Then dinner, and at 8 o'clock the House again, until 11, on every night but Wednesday-Saturday and Sunday. And, believe it or not, the most exhausting thing in the world, the most enervating and demoralizing, is this continual sitting around and listening to other people talk. The wonder is not that our Parliaments are lower in intelligence than we could sometimes wish. The wonder is that, living this life in Ottawa, they are not all gibbering idiots.

UNDERMANNED

THE PAROLE and probation system comes in for a good deal of criticism. Very often, however, what the critics are really protesting (although they don't know it) is the fact that the system gets too little support rather than too much.

The University of California Bureau of Public Administration recently made public an exhaustive study of penal reform in California. It showed that whereas California has approximately 2,300 persons on parole from its state prisons, it has entrusted the tremendously important job of supervising them to a staff of seventeen officers, of whom ten are engaged in office work.

To be effective, a parole system requires a most thorough study of the lives, habits, backgrounds, and prospects of prisoners, both before and after they are paroled.

If we picture how effectively seven field agents can check up on 2,300 men—we can understand why Californians occasionally express dissatisfaction with the way their parole system is working.

Bridge tours lose always can console themselves with the thought that it was "just in the cards."

MR. HARVEY QUOTES A PROFESSOR

To the Editor:—During the course of his address before the Saskatchewan Immigration and Settlement Convention, Dr. W. W. Swanson, Professor of Economics, University of Saskatchewan, stated that it was "clear to thoughtful Canadians that security cannot be found in isolation and domestic programmes for recovery alone," and further that the time had come when "the British Commonwealth should seriously consider the measures to be taken to assure the greatest degree of security in an uncertain world . . . The British Commonwealth has the resources of men, money and materials that are essential for economic progress. With the assistance of British capital and people it should be possible to colonize the vacant spaces of the Dominions, to increase production and to expand markets. . . . Fortunately within the British Commonwealth the limits of colonization have not been reached. . . . It is idle to imagine that world migration is at an end and that powerful countries with surplus population will accept the situation as it exists. . . . The financial stringency resulting from undue debt creation, the railway deficits, the great relative increase in taxation, the general slowing down of the pace of progress of the country, are all parts of the common problem. While something may be done by refunding and the scaling down of obligations, in the end nothing can take the place of profitable production and the development of the country's resources. Canada's most exigent need is for a greater population and a widening of the fields of production and employment. This is necessary to reduce total and per capita debts and to utilize more fully the transportation, industrial, the distributive and other facilities of the nation. The entire economic design of the country has been predicated on dynamic conditions—on an expanding population and increased production to carry the social and economic institutions with which the people have been provided."

Dr. Swanson, in conclusion, referred to Sir William Beveridge's treatise, "Unemployment: A Problem in Industry," and stated that "those who think and speak in terms of isolation and the self-contained economy are laboring under an illusion. They do not understand the transformed society that confronts them. Not even the wisest and most efficient statesman can find a sale for surplus goods and surplus products in the home market. Political and economic isolation means that surplus industry must be scrapped, acreage restricted, and social institutions narrowed in range and scope. The entire credit structure of the nation is thereby undermined and the problem of unemployment rendered more acute. Canada is part of the world community and must use its resources and its industry in conformity with that fact. Increased settlement can assist this process and aid the nation in playing a worthy part in the development of the Empire and increasing its power for good in the world."

Failure of Player to Rely on Bidding Gives Declarer Contract That Should Have Gone Down One

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

Had West listened to the North and South bidding and fully relied upon it, North and South would not have made their vulnerable grand slam, in a recent game at the Regency Club. The ace of hearts would have been cashed and the over-ambitious contract beaten one trick.

However, after South had opened the bidding, North, with his support and strength in both minors, could not be blamed for believing that South, in addition to a solid trump suit in the two hands, had the ace of hearts to justify his opening bid.

South's opening bid has only the justification of a long and almost solid suit. It does not contain the high card tricks needed according to book standards. Yet in rubber bridge almost every outstanding player

DEADLINE ON LIST IS SET

Voters' Registration Closes This Week; Many Changes Found

Wednesday has been set as the deadline for the current re-registration of voters in Victoria provincial riding, George N. Mowat, deputy registrar, announced today.

The list will be compiled and turned over to the registrar who will conduct the customary court of revision at the courthouse next Monday.

Close to 7,000 alterations in the list have been taken in the registration period, Mr. Mowat said. These include new voters, transfers, removals and other changes.

Field commissioners who have been canvassing the city will be called in tomorrow but for the convenience of people who have been ill or out of town the registration office at 629 1/2 Port Street will be kept open tonight and tomorrow night, and probably Thursday night to clean up, Mr. Mowat said.

The last printed list for Victoria, used at the 1935 election, numbered 24,081. The new list is expected to go over 25,000.

Noticeable among the new voters are several retired people from Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and others from Alberta who have come here to start business.

It is estimated between 300 and 350 persons become of age in the city each year but registrations of young people have not kept pace.

Oppose Change In Fair Group

City Council Goes on Record Against Move to Enlarge B.C.A.A. Executive

The City Council went on record last night as being opposed to any amendment of the constitution of the British Columbia Agricultural Association which would take control of the fair and the property at the Willows Exhibition Grounds out of the hands of the council.

The attitude was taken after a communication had been read in which notice of motion was given of a move to enlarge the executive of the association to a board of seven, four elected from the body of the association's annual meeting and three appointed by the council. At present there are six executive members, three of which are council appointees. Of the remaining three elected at the association's meeting only two have the privilege of voting.

Alderman W. T. Straith stated the move was aimed to place the vice-president of the association on the executive in view of the fact Dr. S. F. Tolmie, president, was out of the city a great part of the year and under the existing arrangement, D. D. McTavish, vice-president, was not a member of the executive. He suggested that if the association wished to make provision for an increased executive, the mayor should be empowered to name another City Council representative to keep the balance of power with the city body.

SHOULD RETAIN CONTROL

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, who brought in the motion expressing opposition to the proposed amendment of the constitution, voiced his accord with Mr. Straith's suggested alternative but emphasized his stand the city should retain control. He was supported by Alderman J. D. Hunter.

Alderman A. Wills asked if the city had held a promised meeting with the B.C. Agricultural Association representatives last year. He was told it had not. The Alderman then suggested the whole question be threshed out at a meeting between the two bodies in the near future.

Mayor McGavin was not entirely satisfied with the intention of the association's motion to amend the constitution.

Alderman John A. Worthington and Alderman James Adam felt the executive should remain unchanged.

Alderman Straith vouched for the preservation of the city's majority on the executive, should any alternative be chosen.

H. S. Fringle, city solicitor, stated he did not think any action the council took would be binding at the annual meeting of the association.

Removal of trees on Elberta, Wark and Joseph Streets, recommended by the parks committee, was approved by the City Council last night. Alderman John A. Worthington recorded his vote against the removal, asking the question be submitted to the city solicitor for ruling in view of the fact several residents on those streets were opposed to tree removals. Alderman James Adam, chairman of the parks board, stated further removals would be necessary on Quadra Street, where trees were blocking drains.

On the recommendation of the public works executive, the City Council last night authorized removal of metal buttons from safety zones on downtown streets.

Tenders for pipe will be called shortly by the city purchasing agent as the result of council action last night. About $9,000 worth of pipe is required for projects including the laying of a new main on North Park Street, where pressure is reported to be so low it does not work the spring system in laundry. A request for the increased main was received from the Fire Branch of the B.C. Underwriters Association.

The business and trades development committee was awaiting a reply from the Canadian National Steamship Company headquarters in Vancouver relative to reported prohibitions against International Longshoremen's Association men working the government dock here, Alderman Archie Wills told the City Council last night. He was explaining efforts made by the committee to assist in securing a settlement of local waterfront problems. The city had no powers in the matter, he stated, before offering give study to a letter of protest from the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council over alleged discrimination shown against I.L.A. men by certain dock superintendents.

An explanation of the city's action in closing Victoria West fire hall will be given to residents and firm representatives in that area at a meeting of the Victoria West Brotherhood on Thursday night, Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, fire warden chairman, told the City Council last night. He and the fire chief would attend the meeting, he said.

E. S. Michell, city purchasing agent, gave a further explanation to the City Council last night of the manner in which tenders for the supply of cement had been called by the city. The explanation was given in reply to a second letter from the Island Building Supply Company, which submitted a tender for the material.

A letter of appreciation will go forward from the City Council thanking Dr. S. F. Tolmie, federal member for Victoria, for the presentation of the city's brief on the free port question to the special senate committee investigating that matter.

The City Council last night referred to Mayor Andrew McGavin and the city solicitor a request from Hans Kroeger for assistance to meet the expenses incurred in a hip injury he sustained in a fall on a snow-covered city sidewalk. The action was taken on a second letter from Mr. Kroeger after the council, on the advice of the city solicitor, had declined any legal responsibility for the mishap.

A request from John Day for a copy of relief department expenditure during 1936 was referred by the City Council last night to its relief committee.

CITY BACKS CREMATORIUM

Undertakes to Guarantee Half of Interest of $16,000 For Construction

The City Council last night undertakes to guarantee interest on half the $16,000 issue of 4 per cent twenty-year bonds required to finance the building of a crematorium at Royal Oak Burial Park.

There was considerable discussion on the city's action in accepting the responsibility of underwriting half the interest on the loan which will be advanced privately to the board of cemetery trustees of Greater Victoria for the structure.

A letter from John Day protesting the move, unless it was authorized by a money-by-law, was read at the meeting.

Alderman J. D. Hunter, finance committee chairman, said the board of cemetery trustees had learned private interests were endeavoring to secure a crematorium. If they were successful and the jointly-administered Royal Oak Burial Park was left without one, the city would face considerable loss, he said.

OPPOSES MOVE

Alderman James Adam opposed the move, saying the city would be money in pocket if it ignored the scheme.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar spoke strongly in favor of the scheme and the arguments advanced by Alderman Hunter. He dealt with the number of cremations in connection with Victoria deaths last year.

Alderman Stanley H. Okell suggested the matter be tabled for a week. He was supported by Alderman Adam.

Alderman Dewar pressed for approval of the scheme, subject to advice from the city solicitor.

Alderman A. Wills suggested Oak Bay and Esquimalt be approached to see if they were prepared to underwrite one-quarter of the total interest. Those municipalities were not concerned with the Royal Oak Burial Park, Alderman Dewar replied.

The city would be responsible for guaranteeing interest only, Alderman Hunter said.

Alderman Worthington spoke at some length of the trend toward cremation and stated the burial park trustees would not accept a tender if it were deemed too high.

No Annuity For Geo. Jay

The city's intermunicipal committee, to which the question of studying ex-Magistrate George Jay's request for a retiring annuity was referred, reported to the City Council last night that it could not recommend payment of such a pension.

"Inasmuch as Mr. Jay did not see fit to take advantage of the provisions of the Superannuation Act, your committee is unable to recommend payment of any retiring allowance to Mr. Jay," the committee's report read.

The report was unanimously approved. It was drafted after several committee meetings on the question in which city representatives on the intermunicipal group met other municipal delegates. Other councils governing municipalities in which the former magistrate served had indicated their unwillingness to act in the matter until they were given a lead by the city.

Young Artist Plans Recital

Catherine Craig, young, versatile artist, has announced she will give her second concert recital, embracing the three arts, song, piano and elocution. To all music-lovers this will create great interest. Her first recital, given last year, is still fresh in the memory of those who were fortunate to be present on that unique occasion.

For her forthcoming recital she has prepared an ambitious programme of four groups, singing, piano, singing to own accompaniment, elocution. The fact that Miss Craig is the present holder of the rose bowl for singing, is a gold medal elocutionist and a piano "solo performer" of the Associated Board of Royal School, London, England, marks her as an accomplished artist.

The recital will be given in the Shrine auditorium on the evening of Tuesday, March 30. Tickets are now on sale at Fletcher Bros. or the Willis Piano Co.

Insurance Rate On City Cars Reduced

The fleet rate discount allowed the city on insurance taken out on city cars has been further increased to give the city a reduction of 8 1/2 per cent in yearly premiums; the finance committee was told yesterday.

Under the existing system the city is given a reduction of 40 per cent on premiums on the fleet rate. That will be increased to 45 per cent under the new arrangement, reducing the payment necessary to 55 per cent.

WILL PRESENT IRISH DRAMA

"The Whiteheaded Boy" Will Be Given at Royal Victoria For St. Louis College

"The Whiteheaded Boy," an Irish comedy in three acts by Lennox Robinson, will be presented in the Royal Victoria Theatre on St. Patrick's Day in aid of St. Louis College.

Under the direction of James McGrath, and produced by special arrangement with Samuel French (Canada) Ltd., Toronto, the play, a rollicking Irish comedy of present-day life, has enjoyed a long run in Dublin, London and New York, and with the Irish Players of Victoria presenting it for the first time here, patrons of the annual St. Patrick's Day entertainment are assured of an evening of unusual enjoyment and pleasure.

The cast chosen for the night of March 17 is one admirably suited to this type of high-class Irish humor, and the following artists will appear: Ellen Tharrat as Mrs. Geoghegan, Dan MacDonald as her son George, Mae Murray as her daughter Kate, Frances Cownden, Jane; Eileen Regan, baby; Vaughn Barker; Peter; Don Mulcahy, Denis; Roma Trudel as mittie for the Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta in San Francisco, starting May 27, suggested that Victoria should send a band of Scottish pipers, or at least a decorated float.

"The people of San Francisco would go wild over kilties," he said, "and it would be an excellent advertisement for the little bit of old England."

League Best Means To Peace

Rev. Richmond Craig Addresses Business Women

The League of Nations is the greatest attempt in history to solve an international problem. It is the most glorious idea on earth, but will take a long time to operate. If we can spend millions on war why cannot we spend millions to bring about peace on earth? But we can never expect to solve the problem of world peace until we change our own attitude. How can we expect to achieve international understanding when we cannot agree in families, when there is bickering in the average municipal meeting, disruptions in the churches?

The challenging statement was made by Rev. J. Richmond Craig in his thought-provoking talk given before the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club last night at their supper meeting at the Y.W.C.A.

Calling his subject by the intriguing title of "A Scotsman Goes Places," Mr. Craig based his talk on observations made in his various travels. His passionate plea for peace was born during his visit to the war-graves in France, mute testimony to the futility and horror of war, after which he had attended one of the league's meetings in Geneva, where he saw the valiant attempt being made to create mutual understanding and lasting amity.

Expressing his belief that the present "war-mongering" scare in Europe would come to nothing, but that the next conflict would be in the Pacific basin, Mr. Craig urged the women to use their influence in supporting the League of Nations. "To talk about it and work at it," Miss Minnie Lawson, the new president, was in the chair, and Mrs. H. P. Hodges moved the vote of thanks to the speaker. Miss Carol Menzies delighted the gathering with her two songs, accompanied at the piano by Miss Bessie Crowther.

Announcement was made of the receipt of a handsome donation of $102.50 from the Vancouver Business and Professional Women's Club towards the Bay Wiggles Memorial scholarship fund.

Miss Margaret Clay announced that Miss Mary Mount, president of the Canadian Federation, will broadcast an address on Monday evening, March 15, at 7:30 o'clock, Victoria time, to mark the opening of Business Women's Week.

Canadian Press
New York, March 9.—Antonia Brico, conductor of the New York woman's symphony orchestra, is about ready to forget (if not forgive) the controversy precipitated by Jose Iturbi when he expressed doubts in Toronto recently as to the ability of women musicians to rank among the immortals. She is more interested in the music women actually produce than in arguments about who makes it.

"Isn't it ridiculous?" she said, referring to the controversy, "there is no sex in music. There is either beautiful music or bad music, and some persons do it better than others. More men do it well than women because men have had more practice. Give us 200 years and we'll see."

Girl Marries a Grandfather
Umatilla, Fla., March 9.—Fifteen-year-old Dolly Butler Scates said she was happy today in the marriage which made her the grandmother of two girls, one older than herself.

Saturday she was married to sixty-year-old Reddick Franklin Scates. Of her elderly husband, the school-girl bride said, "I love him more than ever. I never did like a young man like I do an old man." Her father, a citrus grove tender, made her the stepmother of six of her husband's children by his first wife. They range in age from thirty-five to thirteen, and there are two granddaughters who are thirteen and seventeen.

They will visit in Italy and Austria before reaching Paris. Mrs. Wingfield expects to return to Victoria in about five months' time.

Confetti As Pattern On Gown

New York Designer Copies "Camille" Styles

By MARY ELIZABETH PLUMMER
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, March 9.—A "glamour" dress inspired by "Camille" swirled across the chateau-carpeted floor of a dressmaking salon, and after it, a blond model in a gay confetti-print evening gown.

It was spring opening day at the house of Rose Amado, a young American designer whose specialties are unusual evening dresses and custom-made suits.

"Black is my favorite color for spring street clothes," said the designer. "You can wear such unusual colors with black this year for glove and hat accent—new shades of yellow, purple and green. Sometimes I combine all three in the sash and lining of a black jacket-dress."

She also recommends black for a smart spring suit "because the spring season is so short in New York, and black is good for summer travel or first fall wear."

Miss Amado's "Camille" dress was of stiff white tulle, with a fitted, low-cut waist and billowing skirt. Around the skirt and low neckline was a wide, pleated double frill of black net, with brilliant dots in the middle.

The "confetti-print" gown had red, yellow and green dots scattered over a black ground.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

1. Is it necessary for a man to remove his hat in the elevator or an office building?
2. Should a man alight from a vehicle before or after the woman whom he is accompanying?
3. Is it preferable to say "Excuse me" or "Pardon me" when walking in front of another?
4. May a man keep a cigarette in his mouth when he tips his hat?
5. If a man is with a girl who speaks to someone he does not know, should he tip his hat?

You were walking with a friend who stops to talk to a stranger—
(a) Stop with him and wait for an introduction?
(b) Walk on slowly and wait for your friend to join you?
(c) Say "Goodbye, I'll go on?"

Answers
1. No, but most women appreciate it.
2. Before, so that he may assist her in alighting.
3. "Excuse me." ("Pardon me" is never good form. Use "I beg your pardon.")
4. No.
5. Yes.

Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(b), unless you are in a hurry and know the conversation is likely to be a long one.

Forbes, president of the Dominion Board, will be the guest speaker at the opening session of the eleventh annual meeting of the Victoria Presbyterial of the United W.M.S. in the Metropolitan Church tonight at 8 o'clock. Rev. E. F. Church will preside tonight. The business sessions will be open tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock at the church, and will continue throughout the day and on Thursday morning.

Chapter Names Committee Heads

Conveners of standing committees were appointed by Mary Croft Esquimaux Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. Pocock, Lamson Street, with Mrs. G. P. Clarke, the regent, presiding. They were as follows: Girl Guides, Mrs. R. P. Matheson; Navy League, Mrs. G. L. Bishop; Boy Scouts, Mrs. G. Pocock; soldiers' graves, Mrs. J. Quinn and Mrs. G. H. Mason; sick convalescers, Mrs. G. H. Sedger and Mrs. C. Cross, and press committee, Mrs. R. F. Matheson and Mrs. H. E. B. Cresline.

Mrs. Clarke was appointed delegate to the provincial annual meeting and Mrs. J. Quinn, the standard-bearer, will attend.

Lady Barnard, who has again consented to act as honorary regent, was presented with a corsage bouquet of violets by the regent in recognition of her many kindnesses to the chapter. After the meeting, tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. J. Quinn presiding at the prettily-decorated table.

It was reported that the recent bridge tea at David Spencer's was a great success. Mrs. H. A. Allen was appointed convener of the daffodil tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Clarke, 1393 Hampshire Road, on Saturday, April 2. A rummage sale will be held in the near future. The Esquimaux High School and Lamson Street School will be presented with a special Coronation copy of Echoes. A donation was voted for the upkeep of the chapter's cot at the Solarium. The members stood in silent sympathy for Mrs. Playfair in the loss of her mother. Mrs. R. P. Matheson was welcomed back after her trip to England and Scotland.

Winnipeg Play To Enter Final

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, March 9.—The Winnipeg Little Theatre will represent Manitoba at the Dominion Drama Festival in Ottawa. For their presentation of "The Lovely Miracle," by Philip Johnson, they were awarded first place and enthusiastic praise last night by George de Wintars of London, adjudicator at the Manitoba regional festival.

Mrs. Priscilla Winchester of the Little Theatre cast was adjudged the best actress in the festival and Bert Harrison the best actor. He appeared in two plays, scenes from "Journey's End" by the Players' Guild and "The Road of Poplars" by the Provincial Club, Manitoba Government.

C.C.F. Socials.—Saturday, March 13, will see the first of a series of social evenings to be held in the C.C.F. Hall, 724 Fort Street. These are sponsored by the Saanich District Council of the C.C.F., and all members and friends of the organization will be welcomed. Commencing at 8 o'clock, old time dancing will be featured to an excellent orchestra, while military five-hundred also will be arranged. Refreshments will be served and good prizes given.

Japanese To Preside At Parley

Mrs. Tsune Gauntlett At Pan-Pacific Women's Conference

By E. BAILEY PRICE

One of the most interesting personalities who plans to attend the fourth triennial conference of the Pan-Pacific Women's Association to be held in Vancouver July 12 to 24, is the international president, Mrs. Tsune Gauntlett of Tokyo, Japan. Although of Japanese birth, Mrs. Gauntlett is a Britisher, being the wife of an English professor in Tokyo.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE

The story of this marriage as told by Mrs. Gauntlett is most romantic. "Forty years ago, when my husband, in accordance with the custom of our people, first approached my parents, I would not hear of it. It was preposterous. My people were against it. He discussed it with the English superintendent of the mission school in which I was teaching. He enlisted her sympathy and she favored it; told me I would have more freedom as the wife of a Britisher and be able to do more for my countrywomen. This argument and the fact that I liked him very much did appeal to me. My prospective husband then approached me personally and we talked it over.

"In my country it is customary for the wife to have the management of the family income. So I asked, if I might be allowed to spend any spare money that I might save in my household management to help my own countrywomen. He agreed and after much persuasion with my parents we were married. For three months owing to the citizenship laws of those times, we had difficulty in registering our marriage, and in the interim I was a woman without a country.

CHILDREN CHOOSE OWN COUNTRY

"The arrival of our children brought new problems. To what country would they belong. We decided to leave this choice to each when he attained his majority. In the meantime we would stress loyalty to country as a fundamental of their training.

"How would we settle arguments involving our mother countries? By talking these over calmly and justly in the privacy of our family life. Above all, we would make the Christian religion the basis of our children's training. We have followed these fundamentals with our six children.

Five are established citizens and the youngest is still in school. Occasionally a stranger will look at them and with uplifted eyebrows say: 'So your children are Eurasian?' But we smile and proudly admit it, for we have only had joy from our children."

LEADER OF WOMEN

Her husband has carried out his pre-marriage promises and has given his wife every opportunity to help the women of Japan. She has been a pioneer in a host of women's organizations, some of her important offices being: adviser to the World W.C.T.U. member of the Peace Committee in the International Alliance of Women for Suffrage and Equal Citizenship; representative of Japan at the World Convention W.C.T.U. in London, England, 1920; delegate to the International Congress of Y.W.C.A., Geneva, 1920; delegate to Pan-Pacific Women's Conference in Hawaii, 1928; to Washington Conference of "Cause and Cure of War" in 1930; represented Japan on women's committee at London Disarmament Conference, and at the women's committee in Hague Codification Conference, and now president of the Pan-Pacific Women's Association, to which office she was elected in 1934 in Honolulu.

She speaks English fluently. In fact, she said: "So many times I have noticed that English-speaking people think we speak too slowly. Often they make attempts to finish our sentences. And they finish them wrong."

Soroptimist Club.—The Soroptimist Club will be the guests of Mrs. H. I. Mallett at her home, 720 Linden Avenue, on Friday evening, March 12, at 6.15 for the regular monthly dinner. The guest speaker will be Mrs. R. Ross Napier. A happy evening was spent on Friday last in the clubroom when the members and friends enjoyed a game of bridge. The prize-winners were: Mrs. F. Doherty and Mr. P. Corcoran for contract; and Mrs. Milton and Mrs. T. W. Green, slacks for auction; Mrs. J. Petrie, special prize. The room was prettily decorated with carnations, daffodils, pussywillows and anemones.

Conservative Women.—The Women's Conservative Association will hold its monthly business meeting on Thursday, March 11, at 8 p.m. in the headquarters, Campbell Building.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

By MAIRI ELIZARD

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAPHNE BRETT, charming young New York actress, comes to her deceased father's Connecticut estate to LARRY SMITH, attractive bachelor architect, and immediately finds herself liking him tremendously. Daphne has one sister, JENNIFER, just out of college and on her first job in New York.

Jennifer is a vivacious, somewhat self-centered, who resents Daphne's guidance and her first night in New York she dates TUCKER AINSLEY, Daphne's old beau. Then Daphne sees in Jennifer a challenge to herself—a challenge to get a bit more from her own life than a career.

Daphne is under the impression that Larry is married until one night, returning home, Jennifer announces that Larry has been there and is NOT married. Jennifer, unaware of Daphne's liking for him, says she is going to set her hat for Larry.

The following Sunday Tuck Ainsley calls to take Jennifer out to the Ball Hall where Larry lives and Daphne, deciding to play the game herself, pretends to go, too. It's a race between the two sisters for the same man.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

Daphne came back to the living-room ten minutes later. She wore her bright green tweed suit with a big collar and soft black fur. Her small green hat bore a tantalizing feather of pheasant thrust jauntily in its crown. The brightness of the green pointed up the white and black contrast of her skin and hair.

Tuck looked at her approvingly while she drew on her black gloves. Then his glances swung around to Jennifer—Jennifer looking very much like a magazine cover girl in her yellow wool coat, a shade deeper than her soft flaxen hair which flowed out from beneath a childish bonnet of brown velvet.

He sighed. "I wish I could make up my mind which of you two girls is the most beautiful. You're such perfect foils to each other. Ah me! A man has troubles."

Jennifer avoided Daphne's eyes and was angry with herself for doing so. "Why try to make up your mind, Tuck? It isn't likely that Daphne and I would ever enter into any competition for a mere man. Would we, Daphne?"

She smiled but her eyes asked a question. They were cool, penetrating eyes and left no doubt of their meaning.

Daphne laughed. "Don't be ridiculous, you two. Who ever thought of such an idea? Jennifer, don't ever take Tuck seriously. He never means anything he says."

"Suppose you let me make my own conclusions? I'm not really a child you know." Jennifer's voice had a pettish note.

"You certainly are," Tuck said and pretended to shove her out the door.

She is really a child, Daphne thought, noting the silliness in Jennifer's face. Jennifer sat between Daphne and Tuck in the roadster. She kept her lovely eyes straight ahead and answered Tuck's cheerful attempts at conversation in monosyllables.

She is acting like a child and I'm sorry I behaved this way to her. Daphne's thoughts ran on, uncomfortably.

But she couldn't be unhappy for long. Wasn't she going to see Larry Smith?

It would be nice when they got out of the city. Tuck was telling Jennifer, Daphne thought, it was nice in the city. The tenements, the el pillars, the crowded, grey streets, the unattractive stragglers on the streets—all these were drawn into the warm anticipatory mood of Daphne. Her thoughts raced ahead of the car and because she knew the value of every treasured moment, she savored the next even as she wished she could have held on to the last. This quickened sense was something she had never known before.

She was a fool to feel that way. Trying to put her thoughts back in the order that had existed before, all through that drive, she told herself how silly it was of her.

But when they had turned off the Parkway and had driven through the familiar backwoods roads of Plantersport and were at last at Brett Hall, something within told her that she was not a fool.

Something in Larry's Smith's eyes when he saw her told her, too, that she was not silly.

She saw him before they got to the house. He was—as she had seen him first in riding clothes—on his knees putting burlap bags around the plants.

Paris, March 9.—Schiaparelli has chosen the butterfly as the leitmotif of her collection this season. It is the chief ornament of her most successful creations.

If figures on prints for day and evening, either whole or in scattered wings of different sizes. Some are white on a black ground, some black on white. Some in multicolored relief stand out on plain-silk backgrounds.

In glowing mother-of-pearl of scintillating spangles, tiny butterflies become the catches of evening jackets. Garlands of palpitating wings encircle rounded décolletés or trim the edge of velvet boleros.

For daytime wear, butterflies are made of plastic material or cut from leather. They are used for buttons, belt buckles and boutonnières on tailored suits.

Schiaparelli's new silhouette is of the hour-glass type—fullness at the hem of the skirt, and wide armholes giving fullness at the shoulder, with tightly-fitted waists encircled by wide belts.

under the window of the corner room, which he had looked through that first day.

"Hi, squire!" Jennifer called from the car.

Then he saw Daphne.

"Hello," he said and there was great warmth in his voice but his eyes were for Daphne and it was to her that he held out his hand.

"We've taken advantage of your invitation," she said. "This is my sister whom you've met and this is Tucker Ainsley, Mr. Smith."

"Of course, I've met the little sister. Glad to see you all." He shook hands with Tuck.

"It's been a divine drive, Mr. Smith. You're a lamb to ask us up."

Jennifer offered him an angelic smile and held out her small hand for him to help her out of the car.

"A cold one," he said. "Let's get inside. I've been burning some of these fine hickory logs and I think there is something warmer than that."

"Thank heavens for that," Jennifer said. "I told Daphne that I knew you were the kind of man who'd be the supreme host."

"I'm glad you told her that," he said and smiled down on her. Jennifer felt she had said the wrong thing.

They went indoors and Daphne forgot about Jennifer.

The first thing that struck her was the beauty of her old home. So like what it had been before—so exactly what it ought to be. There were all her things, the polished tables, the old mirrors, the rich brocades. She saw them first even as she felt a new living presence there. The late seasonal blooms and leaves that filled the vases, the roaring fire in the hearth, the books and magazines, the hand-work on a loom. She knew instantly what these people—Larry's people—were like, that they were her kind of people.

CRISCO'S SILVER ANNIVERSARY CONTEST!

Look $10,000 CASH!

1st PRIZE—$5,000

"Handed to you on this silver platter"—a gorgeous piece of Gorham sterling silver in a new pattern of outstanding beauty—18 inches long! This platter cost us $150!

554 BIG PRIZES!

1st Prize $5,000 and $150 sterling silver platter
2nd Prize $1000 • 3rd Prize $500
4th Prize $250 • 100 Prizes of $10 each
450 Prizes of $5 each

THIS PLATTER IS BEAUTIFUL—IT'S HEAVY WEIGHT STERLING! IT'S BIG ENOUGH FOR A ROAST TURKEY! IMAGINE GETTING A $150 PLATTER AND $5,000 FOR ONE LITTLE SENTENCE ABOUT CRISCO!

EASY TO WIN Just finish this sentence in your own words (25 additional words or less) "I've found Crisco the best shortening to use for all my baking and frying because....."

For Crisco's friends!

This amazing, alluring, exciting prize contest is offered to Crisco's friends in celebration of the fact that Crisco's 25th Anniversary year has also been Crisco's biggest year—the proof beyond question that more than 11,000,000 households eat better, lighter, more digestible food because of Crisco!

Come! Come share in the happiness which leads Crisco to offer prizes for 554 people in this year's big contest.

Easy! Fancy writing doesn't count

If you've ever done a bit of cooking you can easily finish this plain, ordinary sentence. Just tell in your own everyday words why you prefer Crisco to all other shortenings.

That's certainly easy! "I've found Crisco the best shortening to use for all my baking and frying because Crisco cakes are fluffier and lighter, Crisco pie crusts are more meltingly tender, and Crisco's greaseless fried foods are so digestible!" some women say.

"I've found Crisco the best shortening to use for all my baking and frying because even my three young children can digest the light, wholesome pies, cakes and fried foods I make with this light, creamy shortening," says a mother. Other mothers agree!

Certainly YOU can write sentences as simple as these! And, oh!—think of winning that first prize of $5,000, handed to you on a beautiful Gorham sterling silver platter! We hope you'll be the lucky winner!

EASY RULES

1. Finish the sentence in 25 additional words or less. Use the coupon or write your entry on one side of a sheet of paper. Be sure to print your name and address legibly.
2. Attach to your entry the front panel (or a reasonable facsimile) from an outside wrapper of a tin of Crisco (any size). Send as many entries as you wish, enclosing the front panel of a Crisco wrapper with each entry.
3. Mail your entry before midnight March 15, 1937, to Crisco Contest, Dept. C, Box 629, Cincinnati, Ohio.
4. Sentences will be judged on the basis of sincerity, interest and clearness. Judging will be in charge of Miss Kate M. Rushmore, Contest Consultant, and associates. The decision of the judges will be final. No entries will be returned.
5. It is understood and agreed by entrants that any and all sentence-endings submitted (and names of contestants) may be used by the makers of Crisco as they see fit in advertising and other publicity.
6. If two or more contestants submit the same sentence-ending which (in the opinion of the judges) shall be deserving of a prize, the full amount of that prize shall be given to each.
7. The major prize-winners will be announced over the "Vic and Sade" radio program during the week beginning April 26, 1937. If you want a complete list of the prize-winners, drop a postal card to "Crisco, Box 629, Cincinnati, Ohio."
8. Contest subject to all provisions of Dominion, Provincial and Local Laws and Regulations. Procter and Gamble employees and employees of their advertising agencies, and their relatives, are not eligible to enter the contest. All entries and contents thereof become the property of Procter & Gamble.

CONTEST OFFER GOOD IN U.S.A. AS WELL AS CANADA

Do This For a Cold

1. Take 2 "ASPIRIN" tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 "ASPIRIN" tablets in 1/2 glass of water. Gargle twice.

The Modern-Day Way to Ease Cold and Sore Throat Quickly

The modern way to curb a cold is: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Repeat, if needed, according to directions in box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three "Aspirin" tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice. The "Aspirin" you take internally will act to combat fever, cold pains and the cold itself. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain, acting like a local anesthetic on the irritated throat membrane.

Try this way. Your doctor will endorse it. It is quick, effective and ends the taking of strong medicines for a cold.

"Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1937

Commerce and trade should benefit today, according to astrology. The morning is fortunate for signing contracts or other legal papers.

Under this planetary government, industry should benefit through the co-operation of workers. Changes among labor leaders are prognosticated.

While good aspects rule mildly today there may be a sense of impending events that are of supreme international importance. It is well to be cautious about future commitments.

Foodstuffs now will focus unusual attention as prices rise. Increase in both American imports and exports is forecast.

Taxes and new laws will disturb persons in all grades of business. It is prophesied. Vast national expenditures for defense are planned.

John Bull now will court the favor of Uncle Sam with even more insistence than formerly. Closer relations of all English-speaking nations are predicted. American diplomats are to be much in the limelight and one of them is to learn some through foreboding that at first causes misunderstanding in Washington.

Interest in spiritualism and occultism in numerous phases will be awakened by books of originality and interest.

Persons whose birthdate is 11 have the augury of a fortunate year in which there will be unexpected financial benefits. Much pleasure is indicated.

Children born on this day may be of buoyant nature and energetic character. Subjects of this sign of Pisces often possess intellectual gifts of a high order.

Robert How, manufacturer and bibliophile, was born on this day, 1829. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Pere Hyacinthe (Charles Leconte), French pulpit orator, 1827, and John P. Taylor, Scottish mathematician and physicist, 1748.

Pacific Northwest Tennis Tournament Dates Are Announced

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE BALLAWAY

DURING their visit to New York last week to take part in the six-day bike race Torchy and Doug Peden received some great publicity. The Victoria boys, making their first appearance in the big city as a team, went over in a big way with the sports writers, who handed out some nice bouquets. Writing in his column in The New York Times under the heading, "Rolling Stock from Victoria," B.C., John Kieran had the following to say about the local athletes:

"Two large orders of rolling stock from Victoria, B.C., are William John Peden, called Torchy, and James Douglas Peden, called Doug. They are brothers over the handlebars as well as under the skin, and are teamed together in the six-day bike race that is due to start around the wooden saucer in Madison Square Garden this evening.

"Architecturally, the brothers are much alike. Torchy is six feet two and a half inches, and weighs about 225 on the hoof. Doug is about an inch shorter and some twenty-five pounds lighter, give or take a few ounces. Torchy is a carrot-topped, raw-boned, happy-go-lucky veteran of three circulating daisy spells they call six-day races, and he wins this one by a mile. Doug is a comparative newcomer on wheels. He is only twenty-Torchy is thirty—and it was only last summer that Torchy allowed little brother Doug to ride a bike for anything more than fun.

"It seems that Torchy had in mind all along to make his young brother a bike rider, but the raw-boned, red-headed veteran went about it in a peculiar way. Every time he saw Doug on a wheel, Torchy would yell: 'Get off that bike before I drape the frame around your neck!' He wanted Doug to play football, hockey, baseball, rugger, basketball and other sports to build a big frame, a stout heart and steel muscles.

"Get the build first," said Torchy. "You can get the bicycle later."

The obedient Doug played all kinds of sport while attending Victoria High School and succeeded Murray Patrick, son of Miesle Lestaire, the Silver Fox of the hockey rinks, as the all-around champion at the school. He took four first places in a track meet. He won sectional tennis titles. He won swimming races. When the famous rugger team from New Zealand, the All-Blacks, came through Canada, for a series of matches, there was only one name made against them in all their games. That score was made by Doug Peden.

"Doug was a member of the Canadian Olympic basketball team that played Joe (College) Fortenberry and the other higher-ups who won the Olympic title for the United States at Berlin.

"We played the final on an outdoor clay court in a pouring rain," said Doug with a grin. "Some fun!"

"I was in the Olympics, too," said Torchy. "Back in 1928. I was in the road race at Amsterdam."

"The name Peden was not noted among the list of Olympic winners at Amsterdam in 1928.

"Huh!" said Torchy with a laugh. "It was a road race of about 103 miles and I lasted about ten miles. Had two punctures. You know, nobody is allowed to help you in those races. You have to do it all yourself. I had one extra tire tied up so that it was inside the rear fork. I carried another spare over my shoulder. Well, the first puncture was easy. I cut the tire, chucked it away, and just rolled down the spare and was off again. But when I got that second puncture I had to take the wheel off to get the new tire on. By the time I had it fixed, the other boys were half way home."

"Torchy turned professional soon after that and, while riding with various partners, he kept a weather eye on the way Doug was coming along as an athlete. After the Olympic Games in Berlin last summer Torchy took a prolonged survey of Doug's muscular equipment and pronounced him ripe for a career on wheels.

"There was to be a six-day race in the Wembley Empire Arena and Torchy wanted Doug to be his partner. But Doug couldn't make up his mind in a hurry, so Torchy teamed up with Frank Southall, England's best road racer. Then Doug, decided he would turn professional and ride

Provincial Title Meet to Be Held Here August 2-7

British Columbia Grass Championships at Victoria Club; Duncan Meet

Vancouver Will Hold Sectionals

British Columbia grass court tennis championships will be held at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, August 2 to 7, according to the tournament schedule for the Pacific Northwest circuit announced today. The local tournament will be preceded by the western Canada championships and senior northwest sectionals at Vancouver, July 26 to 31.

The invasion of a strong contingent of players from California will take place again this season. The southerners will make the swing around the northwest tournaments and Victoria fans will see them in action.

There is a strong possibility that Spokane will officially return to open tournament competition this season with an Inland Empire meet, although the dates have not yet been set on the tournament calendar.

Duncan will also hold a registered tournament, probably early in August, so that it will follow almost immediately after the championships here.

The tournament schedule will open at Portland in early July and close at Yakima in September.

Official tournament dates follow: July 5 to 10—Oregon State at Portland.

July 12 to 17—Pacific Northwest at Tacoma.

July 19 to 25—Washington State at Seattle, to include Pacific Northwest junior sectionals.

July 26 to 31—Western Canadian at Vancouver, to include senior sectionals.

August 2 to 7—British Columbia grass court at Victoria.

September 4 to 6—Yakima Valley at Yakima.

September 10 to 12—British Columbia grass court at Victoria.

September 14 to 16—Yakima Valley at Yakima.

September 18 to 20—British Columbia grass court at Victoria.

September 22 to 24—Yakima Valley at Yakima.

September 26 to 28—British Columbia grass court at Victoria.

September 30 to October 2—Yakima Valley at Yakima.

Bays and Scottish To Meet Saturday

In quest of second-half Barnard Cup honors, teams in the city senior oval ball league will resume league schedule once more when the J.B.A.A. squad, first-half champions, meet the Canadian Scottish Saturday afternoon at Macdonald Park. Alan Le Marquand will referee.

Intermediate matches on the week-end card will see Oak Bay Wanderers and Victoria College clash at the Victoria High School grounds and the Fifth Brigade and Canadian Scottish face off at Oak Bay Park.

Dan Moses will officiate at the High School and B. McMillan will handle the whistle at the Oak Bay pitch. All games will start at 3 o'clock.

VANCOUVER IN EASY VICTORY

Retains Chance of Heading Coast Hockey League By Defeating Seattle

Vancouver, March 9.—Vancouver Lions, five points back of the Portland Buckaroos, today faced the necessity of winning their three remaining games on the road to overtake the league leaders and gain the bye into the Pacific Coast Hockey League playoffs.

Lions shellacked the cellar-dwelling Seattle Sea Hawks 8 to 3 here last night to hold their mathematical chance of winning the league.

Wide open hockey from the opening produced frequent scoring chances for both teams, as few off-sides were called.

O'Neill, Lennon and Carre bagged three points apiece for the winners, while Cam Proulx, Sea Hawk winger, scored twice for the losers.

Carre's three points brought his total count for the season to thirty-nine, ten points ahead of his teammates Palm and O'Neill, and Ralph Blyth, Portland.

Rimstad, Lion's centre, opened the scoring in the initial period on a pass from Owen Lennon.

Carre added a goal before the minute mark of the second session, and after Dave Downie, Seattle, banged in the first Hawk counter near the five-minute mark, Lennon battled in a pass from defenseman Mercer fifty-nine seconds later.

In the wild third period O'Neill found the net twice and gathered an assist. Carre, Rimstad and Godin scored the other Vancouver counters, while Cam Proulx brought the Seattle count to three, when he fired in two third-period markers.

Coach Douglas Walls of Victoria High School has announced that the annual Kiwanis Cup rugby game, between Victoria College and Victoria High School, will be played tomorrow on the Fernwood grounds. High School is now in possession of the cup and some stiff competition is expected.

KIMBERLEY IS BEATEN AGAIN

Dynamiters Drop Second Game of European Hockey Tour to Wembley Lions

London, March 9.—Kimberley Dynamiters were defeated for the second time in their long overseas tour last night, when Wembley Lions, National League leaders beat them, 4 to 2, Harringay Racers took the Allan Cup and world title-holders, 7 to 3, last week.

The Duke and Duchess of Gloucester were among the 11,000 persons who saw last night's game, played for the King George V Memorial Fund.

Edgar Murphy, Ottawa, and Tony Lemay, Winnipeg, scored in the first period for Lions, and Ralph Redding put Dynamiters on the scoring sheet before the session ended. Alex Archer, Winnipeg, scored in the second and again in the third, to give Lions a three-goal lead. Gordon Wilson scored the last goal of the game for Kimberley.

High-College Ruggers Clash

Coach Douglas Walls of Victoria High School has announced that the annual Kiwanis Cup rugby game, between Victoria College and Victoria High School, will be played tomorrow on the Fernwood grounds. High School is now in possession of the cup and some stiff competition is expected.

School Boxing Show Announced

The annual exhibition of boxing and gymnastics presented by the boys of Cranleigh House School will be held on Tuesday evening, March 23, at 8 o'clock.

Fighters Will Train Tonight

Sonny Buxton, Victoria, and Ed Henry, Los Angeles, heavyweights, who will meet in the ten-round main event of Thursday's fight card at the Tillicum gym, will work out at the gym tonight. Buxton will go through his paces at 7:30 o'clock with the negro entering the ring half an hour later. Other boys on the card will also train.

The general public is invited to attend.

Just for the fun of it.

The other is Miss Mars Manson, noted for her exploits in the McKinley Park district.

Local Squads Will Meet Duncan Teams

Hoyle-Brown and Burnetts to Make Final Bids For Lower Island Hoop Honors Tomorrow Night; Local Squads Win at Duncan

Hoyle-Brown and Burnetts, senior B men and senior B women hoop squads, respectively, will engage Duncan teams tomorrow evening at the Victoria High School gym, in final contests for lower island laurels.

Hoyle-Brown will take the floor with an eight-point advantage and the Burnetts will have a lead by virtue of victories registered in the first games of home-and-home total-point series.

The Burnetts-Duncan game will open the card at 7 o'clock; to be followed by the senior B men's tussle an hour later. The card will be wound up with another game, yet to be arranged.

Playing in the up-island city last night in the first game of the home-and-home series in the lower island finals, Hoyle-Brown registered a 38 to 30 victory over Duncan, while the Canadian Scottish, smart local intermediate B boys, romped through for a 32 to 12 triumph over the Duncan High School.

ARE TOO GOOD

Leu by Jack Caddell and Pete Campbell, high scorers with fourteen and ten points, respectively, Manager Frank Shandley's club was too good for the home team. They piled up a 16 to 10 lead at the interval and finished their performance with a couple more points added onto their half-time margin.

The Canadian Scottish hoopers, coached by Carl Coates, had little difficulty in winning. The locals were in front 10 to 4 at the half and forced further ahead in the final period. High scorers for the Scottish were B. Lovell, eleven; Fryer, ten, and B. Martin, nine, to account for thirty of their team's total of thirty-two points.

Kenneth and C. Timothy, Duncan; Bob Macmurchie and Tommy Macdo, Victoria, refereed.

The teams and individual scores follow:

Duncan—Smythe 7, Collier 9, Fletcher 4, McDonald 6, Harbord, Dirom, Haines 4, Kenneth and Mortimore, Total 30.

Hoyle-Brown—Caddell 14, Levy 2, Fleming, Campbell 10, Patterson 2, Jones 4, Morgan 4 and Elliott, Total 38.

Howie Morenz is Called by Death

One of Greatest Figures in History of Professional Hockey Passes From Heart Attack at Montreal; Was Recovering From Broken Leg; Played Here in Stanley Cup Series

By SYDNEY GRISON

Canadian Press Montreal, March 9.—Howie Morenz, the comet of centre ice, was lost forever to hockey today, his flashing speed stifled in death.

Death came suddenly to the "Peerless Howie" of Montreal Canadiens last night. A heart attack, brought on by a nervous breakdown, took him in the midst of recovery from the leg fracture that had snapped his National Hockey League comeback.

The swiftness of his death left a shaken hockey world speechless. His sorrow was best summed up by the brokenhearted words of Cecil Hart, manager of Canadiens:

"I can't talk about it. It is terrible—a thunderbolt."

Worry—mainly about his hockey future—led to the breakdown about two weeks ago. Dr. Hector Fergus said. The fractured leg, suffered when Morenz crumpled in a game January 29, had been on the mend. Dr. Fergus was in attendance at the end. Howie did not speak.

GREAT COMEBACK At thirty-four, a veteran in hockey, Morenz had been to the top and down again. But this season, once more with the club, he broke into the N.H.L. with in 1933, he started up again.

All—or very nearly all—the old-time speed was in Howie's legs. As he and Canadiens moved ahead to top the standing, he became "Hurting Howie," once more, blinding through or around the defence, feeding passes to his little wingmen, Johnny Gagnon and Aurel Joliat.

He played on Stanley Cup winning teams, the Canadiens of 1934, 35 and 36; was awarded the Dr. David Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player three times and made the Canadian Press all-star team twice since they were compiled in 1931.

He tested all the honors a player could win in the National League. He tasted bitterness, too, when after his slump in 1933-34 Canadiens traded him to Chicago Black Hawks. He went to New York Rangers after another poor season with Hawks and there also the "something" that brought him greatness with Canadiens was missing.

The bitterness was forgotten this winter in the joy of being back with Hart and Canadiens.

HOPE TO RETURN Though he knew at the time he was hurt he was through for the year, Morenz believed he could come back again next season.

In the seasons Canadiens and Morenz went skyrocketing along at the top, he built up a lifetime National League scoring record broken only recently by Ned Stewart of New York Americans. At his death he still held the points record in the N.H.L. In fourteen years he had scored 370 goals and assisted in 467 for a 467 total.

PLAYED HERE Victorians had the privilege of watching Howie Morenz in action at the peak of his career when the Montreal Canadiens played the Victoria Cougars in the world championship series for the Stanley Cup at the Willows Arena in March and April, 1928. The Cougars won the championship.

Feature of that series was the centre ice battle between the great Morenz and Frank Fredrickson, peerless pivot men of the Cougars.

At that time Howie was the pivot for the great forward line of Morenz, Aurel Joliat and Billy Boucher.

The visit to Victoria of Morenz held the fans an opportunity to compare his blinding speed with that of the great "Cyclone" Taylor, over which there had always been considerable discussion.

ONLY JOLIAT LEFT Montreal, March 9.—When Howie

Scored Last Goal

LATE HOWIE MORENZ

Morenz played his first game of big league hockey for Montreal Canadiens in the fall of 1923 the little black-capped figure of Aurel Joliat sped along beside him on left wing.

When the mastery Morenz played his last game of hockey in Montreal, January 28, the same diminutive Joliat, in his fifteenth National League season, starred on the same line, completing their unique hockey partnership.

Now Joliat is the only active player of the two score or so who formed the four teams in the N.H.L. the season Morenz broke in. Joliat was a veteran of a season's campaigning when Leo Dandurand welded him, Morenz and Billy Boucher into a line that carried Canadiens to a world title in their first season together.

NATIVE OF MITCHELL Stratford, Ont., March 9.—Known during his professional hockey career as the "Stratford Streak," Howie Morenz, who died in Montreal last night, was really a native of Mitchell, twelve miles from Stratford. He played with Stratford's junior team for several years, however, and gained most of his amateur prominence here.

Morenz came to Stratford in the early war years and entered the employ of the Canadian National Railways. He played for the C.N.R. shop team and for the city juniors. He quickly became the idol of youngsters.

The stars-father, William F. Morenz, still lives here with a sister, Mrs. William Bushfield.

Sonny Jones In Win By Knockout

London, March 9.—Sonny Jones, Vancouver welterweight, last night defeated Alby Day, British boxer, when the referee halted a fight at the Earls Court Stadium in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder.

Jack Powell, Great Britain, outpointed Paul Schaffer, midweight, of Winnipeg, in ten rounds. Powell went down for a count of seven in the third round but his superior boxing skill brought him the judges' decision.

Earl Averill Is Expected to Sign

Cleveland, March 9.—Earl Averill was expected today to end quickly his most persistent salary debate since he joined the Cleveland Indians in 1929.

The tribe outfielder, second in the American League batting race last season, studied a new proposal from C. C. Slapnicka, general manager, which was believed to call for approximately $16,000 for the 1937 campaign.

MARSHALL WINNER Chicago, March 9.—Everett Marshall's claim to the world heavyweight wrestling title was backed today by another victory—a fall scored over Oki Shikins, Japan.

The Lan Juntas, Colo., grappler pinned the Japanese at the Coliseum last night in 13 minutes, 16 seconds, using a body slam and scissors. Marshall threw Shikins in their first match two months ago.

Commons Nears Budget Vote

Division at End of Debate Expected Before Adjournment Tonight

Ottawa, March 9.—Government policies on wheat, employment and trade continue to occupy the attention of speakers from the opposition groups as the budget debate pursues its course in the House of Commons. Several times in the last week the debate seemed to have reached the voting point. That point is expected finally today.

Private members and the majority from opposition groups occupied the whole of yesterday's sitting, which saw an abortive attempt on the part of John Blackmore, Social Credit leader, to add a clause to Conservative Leader Bennett's amendment expressing regret at what it describes as the government's failure to take effective measures against unemployment.

Mr. Blackmore's amendment would have added a paragraph to the original amendment, also regretting passage of the order-in-council which provided that the Wheat Board would not establish a fixed minimum price unless wheat fell to 90 cents at Fort William.

IS RULED OUT
Speaker Casgrain, agreeing with the sentiments of both Mr. Bennett and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, ruled that this amendment to the amendment, because it introduced an entirely new subject, was not in order. It could properly be moved as a separate amendment on the Bennett amendment was disposed of, he said.

With the debate on the Bennett amendment continuing this afternoon, it was expected that unless additional members should place their names on the list of those desiring to speak, an early vote would take place.

Yesterday's speakers included A. E. Heaps, C.C.F., Winnipeg North; C. E. Bothwell, Liberal, Swift Current; Mr. Blackmore, David Spence, Conservative, Toronto-Parkdale; H. R. Fleming, Liberal, Humboldt; S. H. Barber, Conservative, Swift Current; S. L. Lacombe, Liberal, Laval-Two Mountains; Que. Robert Fair, Social Credit, Battle River, Alta.; and Jean Francois Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que.

Farm Products Control Board

Toronto, March 9.—Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario minister of agriculture, today announced reconstitution of the Ontario milk control board as the farm products control board with greatly extended authority. The control board will have control over cheese factories and also over tomato, strawberry, raspberry and other producers selling to canning factories.

He said he had given notice of a New Zealand-U.S. Air Line Debated

Canadian Press from Havas Wellington, N.Z., March 9.—Harold Gatty, United States round-the-world flier who now represents Pan-American Airways, conferred today with Prime Minister Michael Savage on a proposed air service between New Zealand and the United States.

After the conference, Mr. Savage declared the aim of the Wellington government was to build up "New Zealand and the British Commonwealth."

Claims Money From Aberhart

Vancouver, March 9.—John L. Loveseath told Judge Lennox in county court yesterday that his (Loveseth's) suggestion political funds for promotion of social credit in British Columbia should be brought into the province secretly was agreed to by Premier Aberhart of Alberta.

Loveseth was testifying at trial of his suit for $625 in wages as the Premier's "personal representative" and secretary for the British Columbia Social Credit Union. Joined in the same suit by Mrs. M. Bower Hopkinson for $500, which she claims as recording secretary of the S.C.U., she had given testimony earlier yesterday.

Mr. Aberhart agreed, Loveseath testified, that if Alberta funds were sent to finance work in British Columbia they should be kept secret and a handwritten "letter of hell" on Mount Mihara today and then fought his way back to life after six hours within the roaring cauldron.

"I've gone through hell twice over," the youth cried after his attempt at suicide. "Now let me live."

Black Legion Men Sentenced

Associated Press
Detroit, March 9.—Nine men were sentenced today to prison terms of one to five years each for a Black Legion plot to kill Arthur L. Kingsley, newspaper publisher of Highland Park.

The sentences were pronounced by Recorder's Judge John V. Brennan. Seven of the sixteen defendants were acquitted.

Among those sentenced were N. Ray Markland, former mayor of suburban Highland Park, and Arthur L. Lupp sr., once milk inspector for the Detroit Board of Health and named by investigators as Michigan commander of the secret society.

Private members and the majority from opposition groups occupied the whole of yesterday's sitting, which saw an abortive attempt on the part of John Blackmore, Social Credit leader, to add a clause to Conservative Leader Bennett's amendment expressing regret at what it describes as the government's failure to take effective measures against unemployment.

Congress Split Stated Planned

Canadian Press
Toronto, March 9.—A split in the ranks of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor last fall was deliberately caused by a group more concerned with its own interests than those of organized labor, President A. R. Mosher told delegates at the opening session of the seventh annual convention of the Congress yesterday.

Resurrection of the Canadian Federation of Labor, which met in convention here last week, was an extension of the "war," Mr. Mosher said.

"There was no justification for it except to provide a means to gratify the spite and ambition of a few individuals who are more interested in their own welfare than that of the workers," he said.

Until the split last fall, Mr. Mosher said, all unions co-operating had refrained from pressing for action on matters in which other affiliates were not in complete accord.

The present gathering is the first since September's sixth convention revealed a split.

Diespecker And Mason Acquitted

Judge Ellis Says All Transactions Conducted "Above Board"

Gordon R. Mason and R. E. A. Diespecker were acquitted by Judge J. N. Ellis in County Court yesterday afternoon of charges of theft of securities and money from Bernard A. Martin in stock transactions starting shortly before the crash of 1929-30 and continuing for the next few years.

"The accused are men that I think I should say, from what I have seen of their conduct and demeanor in court, are not the type who would deliberately defraud people under the conditions in which they are charged. Furthermore, their transactions with the informant in this case were, as far as I can see, above board, and in no sense constitute a criminal charge," the judge said.

"The relationship between them, the informant and the accused, at first at least was very friendly and amicable—so friendly that on more than one occasion Martin went so far as to assist financially in carrying on the business—indicating that he was certainly familiar with the financial affairs of the accused," the judge continued.

"There is an exhibit put in here going so far as to indicate that under certain conditions Martin was to become a partner of Mason and Diespecker, but for some reason, that new partnership was never consummated."

The judge quoted excerpts from letters introduced as evidence. It was not until after Martin had realized it was impossible to collect owing to the crash that he had turned to criminal prosecution, Judge Ellis said.

It has been freely admitted by the accused that the debt is due. The informant at no time, so far as I can see, was in any doubt as to the real relationship between him and the accused, the judge continued.

"A mass of evidence as to book-keeping and accounting has been put in which requires a better book-keeper than any to appear authoritatively on from the standpoint of an accountant; but I cannot see, and I waited in vain for it, any evidence which would justify me in coming to the conclusion the books were 'crooked'—to use that expression—or that evidence was concealed from the informant."

"I am perfectly satisfied and I can do no other than find as a fact that the so-called 'shift' of the accounting was done at the express request of Martin," the judge said in reference to evidence which showed Martin's two accounts, one on a loan and the other for trading, had been balanced one against the other.

"There is no evidence before me sufficiently satisfactory to justify me in coming to the conclusion that any payments were made by the informant to the accused for specific shares. There is evidence that payments were made, that his account from time to time showed a debit balance and at the other times showed a credit balance."

"The accused concealed nothing from Martin. The Crown has not discharged the onus that is clearly on it. In fact the evidence, speaking generally, is overwhelmingly in favor of the accused."

ILLNESS STOPS MAKING MOVIE

Central Films Awaits Doctor's Report on David Selman, Director

Central Films Limited was today forced by the sickness of David Selman, director, to suspend work on "Women Against the World," its seventh local picture, production of which started at the Willows studios yesterday morning.

Mr. Selman was stricken last night with a chill. He is under the care of Dr. D. M. Bellie.

Selected by Bishop, producer, said this morning he hoped the director would be sufficiently recovered to resume work tomorrow or Thursday. Whether this will be possible will not be known until the doctor's report is received this evening.

In the event Mr. Selman is considered unfit to resume work on Thursday, Mr. Bishop will phone to Hollywood tonight and another director will leave the movie capital by plane at 12:15 o'clock, arriving here on the afternoon boat from Seattle tomorrow.

Ralph Forbes, who is to take the male lead in the picture opposite Alice Moore, is expected to arrive here on board the Ss. Iroquois tomorrow morning and to start work on Thursday morning. Production cannot be suspended after his arrival because of the limited time available.

Clean-up Week April 4 to 10

Victoria's clean-up, build-up and paint-up week will be from April 3 to April 10, both dates inclusive, it was decided yesterday evening at a meeting of the committee selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to conduct the event.

Ronald Fairclough, chairman of the committee, reported that other local organizations had expressed their willingness to co-operate. Other members of the committee are: Leonard Cox, Richard George and W. W. Martin, with Mr. Fairclough.

Detective H. P. Jarvis testified that Keaton had been arrested by Constable Frank Pomeroy of the Provincial Police when attempting to dispose of some of the stolen jewelry at a local jeweler.

The other three were later apprehended by Detective Jarvis and Provincial Police in a local rooming-house where a considerable amount of the stolen property was recovered.

OLD SEALER PASSES HERE
Captain Josiah Gosse Had Colorful Career on Atlantic and Pacific Coasts

Captain Josiah Gosse, a colorful pioneer of Victoria and one of the fast disappearing groups of seamen who remember this city as a flourishing seaport for sealing schooners, died last night at his home at Esquimalt Lagoon at the advanced age of eighty-five years.

His passing was mourned today by friends all along the Pacific Coast and particularly in Victoria and Vancouver where he and his first cousin, Captain J. J. Gosse have been outstanding marine figures for many years.

Born of a fisherman's family in Newfoundland, Captain Gosse spent most of his life at sea. As a youth he spent his early training with the hair-sealing schooners on the Atlantic Coast and during these years he had many thrilling experiences which he often described here when swapping yarns.

He came to the Pacific Coast in the 80's and since that time had resided here except for the occasional years when he went north with the sealing fleet. After the closing of sealing activities here, Captain Gosse joined the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R. for about four years and for part of that time he was master of the Ss. Otter.

Following his retirement from the C.P.R. he was appointed lightkeeper at the Esquimalt Lighthouse, a post which he retained until the light was made automatic.

Since then he had lived with his wife in their home at Esquimalt Lagoon near the sea he loved so well. Besides his widow he is survived by two sons, Arthur H. Gosse, Vancouver, and Douglas Gosse, Victoria, and one daughter, Mrs. Hannah, Colwood. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Funeral services will be held at Haywards' B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, after which interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

To Oakalla For Theft of Cars

Louis West Given Eighteen Months on City and Oak Bay Charges

Jail terms totaling five and a half years, of which he will have to serve eighteen months, were imposed on Louis West in the City and Oak Bay Police courts this morning by Magistrate Henry Hall.

West pleaded guilty to five theft charges in the city, including three auto thefts, and two charges of bicycle thefts in Oak Bay.

Cars stolen by West in the city were owned by R. Rainsford, Len Wagstaff and Miss M. Benson. "This morning he admitted two more charges, one of stealing a car radiator ornament and another of stealing bicycle and car equipment."

In passing sentence the magistrate said the fact that the accused had assisted police after his arrest in finding the stolen property helped him, but he could not overlook the fact that it had been a straight question of whether or not the accused would be caught in his escapades and he had exercised his influence to tempt other boys into crime.

On each of the car theft charges West was given eighteen months. For each of the other thefts in the city he received three months, and for the Oak Bay charges he received six months each.

Singapore Family Will Reside Here

"We intend to reside here permanently when my husband retires," said Mrs. M. C. Howie, wife of an official of the Standard Oil Company in Singapore, at the Empress Hotel today.

She crossed from the Orient by the Hysa Maru and is accompanied by her son, James, and Miss H. Howie, sister-in-law.

Mr. Howie expects to arrive here in June and his family will remain here until that time. He is due for retirement from the Standard Oil service in about three years.

The Howies own a home on Gorge Road, which they purchased two years ago with the intention of settling here.

Wholesale row is facing a shortage of bananas. The regular shipment has been delayed, and is not expected to arrive until the end of the week, and the bananas cannot be sufficiently ripened for sale until the beginning of next week.

A carload of Imperial Valley cabbage reached here this morning. The dump duty, amounting to $1.35 a crate, was removed from California bunch cabbages yesterday, and correspondingly lower prices have gone into effect.

The Texas spinach crop is being cleaned up rapidly. The first shipment of Walla Walla spinach arrived yesterday.

The monthly meeting of Lake Hill Community Centre will be held Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock.

BORN HERE IN DAYS OF FORT

Late Mrs. Hannah Ball First White Girl Born in City

Believed to be the first white girl born in Victoria, Mrs. Hannah Ball, a resident of Victoria and District all her life, passed away last night at her home, 114 Douglas Street, in her eighty-fourth year.

Mrs. Ball was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Parker, well-known pioneers, who arrived from Kent, England, on the old sailing ship Norman Morrison, via Cape Horn, in 1853. She was born about three months after their arrival in the family home on Johnson Street, near the site now occupied by Shotbolt's drug store.

Victoria in those days was a fort, and Mrs. Ball witnessed the gradual growth of the city from a settlement within stockades to its present dimensions. She married the late Charles Ball, who was for many years a blacksmith on Johnson Street, and their first home was on Menzies Street, James Bay, then considered far removed from Victoria as it was still virgin countryside. In 1867 Mr. and Mrs. Ball went out to Rocky Point and pioneered on a farm, living there for about thirty years before returning to Victoria to make their home.

Mrs. Ball had been a member of the Church of Our Lord, Reformed Episcopal, since its inception by Bishop Bridge and was confirmed there as a girl.

Her husband predeceased her about twenty years ago, and of their family of ten, five daughters and two sons survive. Miss Adeline Ball, at home; Mrs. John McLennan, Victoria West; Mrs. H. Turner, Victoria; Mrs. Alex McLennan, Vancouver, and Mrs. A. Chave, Lusk, and George Ball, Rocky Point, and Wilfred Ball, Victoria. She was predeceased by Mrs. Dan McLennan, a daughter and Mary Ball, a daughter who died as an infant, and one son, Charles Ball.

Surviving sisters are Mrs. Mary Walker, Mrs. M. Croghan and Mrs. A. Stewart of Victoria and surviving brothers are Harry Parker of Colwood and John Parker of California. There are thirty-five grandchildren and seventeen great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at Haywards' B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, after which interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Find Terms Are Too Long

Credit Granters Discuss Lengths of Contracts at Lunch Meeting

Terms on which goods are sold were discussed by members of the Victoria Credit Granters' Association at their weekly luncheon in Spencer's dining-room this afternoon, when Harry B. Dawson, manager of the credit bureau, warned them that contracts were too long.

Three-year terms were generally considered too long by credit granters, though there was one member who admitted granting three and a half years for a customer to pay for a refrigerator. Such long time, he admitted, was granted only on account of competition.

A. Read and L. M. Butler answered a number of questions on credit matters. Too easy a sale was regarded by Mr. Read as a bad sign on the part of a customer. He told of selling an article quickly to a man late one evening who gave him a cheque and asked for the rest on terms. He got in touch with the credit bureau and found that the man had changed the spelling of his name and had a bad record.

One member felt that this was receiving goods under false pretences, and that the man could and should be prosecuted.

The matter was referred to the legislative committee, who were also asked to find out how long a contract of sale could last.

The programme was in charge of L. Kenden. G. A. A. Hebdon was in the chair.

R. W. MacKenzie, manager of the Victoria office of Independence Founders Limited, will give the second of a series of radio talks on "Successful Investing" on Wednesday evening, 6:45 to 7 o'clock over C.P.C.T. His subject will be "Common Investment Fallacies and How to Avoid Them."

Jack Price, M.P.P. for Vancouver East, acting organizer for the Social Constructive Party, was in Victoria today conferring with Rev. Robert Connell, the party leader.

They were understood to be discussing the party's plans for the next provincial election. A meeting of supporters was arranged for this evening. Mr. Price, who recently toured the Okanagan and Kootenay districts, said:

"I found a very favorable response to our proposals. We are going ahead quietly with organization work and expect to have capable candidates in the field."

CLUB DEBATES AIRPORT NEED

A. C. Stickley Leads Discussion By Kiwanians

The Kiwanis Club should urge the Service Clubs Council to work in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce in seeking proper airport facilities for Victoria, A. C. Stickley told Kiwanis at their luncheon today in leading the club's weekly forum.

"We are never going to get anywhere until some of our business men get busy," he said. "I believe if we started enough agitation we might get somewhere."

Mr. Stickley gave the club a brief picture of Canada's position in the world's airways, with special reference to the British-Canadian-U.S. trans-Atlantic air service which is expected to start in November of this year, to the trans-Canada airway, to be inaugurated probably early next year, and to plans for an air service from British Columbia through Alaska and Siberia to China.

All cities of any size and importance were provided with airports, he said, and Victoria's need in this regard was amplified by the fact that the only other means of communication was by water.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX-Six months ago I married a man fifteen years my senior. I had known too many loves in the past to be particularly thrilled, but I was tired of knocking around and he has a very good position. After our marriage I told him frankly of my past and that his extra-marital adventures would not bother me, demanding in return the same privileges for myself. He agreed to this readily, because it is well known he is much in love with a girl he cannot get. Now, to my dismay, I find that he has discussed my past and our marriage agreement with his friends and they show me unmistakably that they consider me beneath them and some of the men are slyly familiar. All my absences, my mail, my telephone calls are watched and reported to him when he is away. Instead of working for happiness my frankness is only causing misery. Do you think his age makes it impossible for him ever to change?

TRUTHFUL AND SORRY.

Answer: I don't think a man's age has much to do with his attitude toward his wife's conduct. Young or old he wants her to have clean skirts and for him to be able to trust her. And this goes no matter what his own record might be. Your experience proves anew how difficult it is for the woman who has a past to know what to do about revealing it before marriage to the man who has asked her to be his wife. Her instinct may be to be honest and truthful, but if, as the old melodramas say, "she tells all," the man almost invariably reacts to her revelations as your husband has done.

He may tell her that he forgives her; that it is the present and the future that counts and not the past, and marry her. But almost without exception he never trusts her and in any time of marital discord he reproaches her with her indiscretions.

Yet, if the woman with a past does not tell her fiancé before marriage of her adventures, she lives in covering dread of his finding out her secret, and she knows that while he might have forgiven her for flouting the moralities he will never forgive her for deceiving him and palming off damaged goods on him.

So there you are. The woman who dances must pay the piper. Whether she tells or doesn't tell; whether she lies or tells the truth about her past, she is probably always sorry and wishes she had done the other way.

But a marriage founded on such a rotten foundation as yours cannot possibly be a success because there is nothing in it to make it go. There was no love in it, no faith, not even an intention of cleaving unto one man and one woman. Your marriage is no marriage at all. It is a mockery of marriage and you will never find any peace or happiness in it.

DEAR MISS DIX-My grandson, aged sixteen, has been in the habit of borrowing small sums from me with the understanding that he will return them when he receives his allowance, but he never does. When I remind him of it he says he has forgotten it, and his mother gets angry at me and accuses me of being stingy. Says I should give the boy the money. Believe me, Miss Dix, I am not thinking of the money, but of the dishonest principle of borrowing and never paying back that is instilled in this boy's character. What do you think?

GRANDMA.

Answer: I think that you are exactly right and that there is nothing more important than that children should be taught from their earliest infancy to take a responsible attitude toward money and to be punctilious in paying their debts. It should be impressed upon every child that to borrow and not to repay is just as dishonest as stealing. It is even more despicable because it is betraying the trust of some one who likes us.

If this were done, we should all be saved from the petty grafting friends and relatives who are always touching us for small sums, or asking us to pay for something they buy when we go shopping, or to settle their part of the bill at a Dutch-treat affair, or buy their tickets for the theatre and who promptly and conveniently forget ever to settle with us.

Certainly the parents who allow a boy to grow up believing that he can borrow money without repaying it are partly to the crime when he becomes an absconding cashier in later life, or is sent to jail for stealing from his employer. He has never been taught to be honest about money.

No part of a child's education is more important than teaching it to handle money. From the time a child is five years old it should be given a regular allowance that should cover all of its little personal expenses and it should be made to live within this allowance. If it spends it foolishly, it should be made to do without the things it wants the remainder of the week. There should be no begging for nickels and no borrowing. But if it does borrow, the parents should see that the debt is repaid to the last penny.

When you have taught a child to take care of money, to do without until it has the money to pay for it, to spend wisely and well and to pay its debts, you have laid the foundations of an upright character on which an edifice of success and prosperity are sure to be built.

DEAR MISS DIX-I have been a devoted wife for fifteen years, keeping my secretarial position throughout my married life, helping wherever and whenever I could in every problem of finance and business, but I have one of those husbands who does not think it necessary to ever pay a wife the slightest attention. Holidays come and go, anniversaries, birthdays, and never a card from him letting me know that at least he knows of these eventful days. It is not a case of where he hasn't the time or money, because he has plenty of both. Why can't a man understand that a woman craves appreciation and that when she doesn't get it she just feels that marriage isn't worthwhile and that she can't go on with it?

DISGUSTED WIFE.

Answer: I don't know. Nobody knows. Why men put no stress whatever on the little amenities of marriage is just as profound a mystery as why women make it the paramount thing in marriage. A man may think it is silly sentiment for his wife to want him to send her flowers occasionally and bring her home a box of candy, or buy her something himself for Christmas instead of giving her a cheque and to celebrate the anniversary they met, but if he can make her happy by doing so he is a mean grinch if he doesn't do it.

If it is too much to tax his memory with these love tokens he can leave a standing order at the florist or the candy shop and let his secretary keep track of the anniversaries, as so many husbands do.

Monkeys and Apes

II-DIANA MONKEYS AND "HOLY APES"

The Diana monkeys of western Africa has a long tail. Its black face is adorned by a white beard. Both males and females have this beard.

Holy monkeys in India

Although the tail of the Diana monkey is longer than the body, it is not a great deal of use. Possibly it serves as a balance when the animal is leaping, but it has no power to hold a limb. No monkey in Africa or Asia can use its tail for grasping. That trick, as I said yesterday, can be performed only by monkeys of South and Central America. Diana monkeys live in groups, or we might say "tribes." Their lives are largely spent in trees. They eat insects, birds' eggs and, sometimes, young birds.

Among the monkeys of India are those known as "holy apes," but they are not apes in the true sense of the word. They are experts at jumping, and may leap as much as thirty feet, from the top of one tall tree to a lower limb of another. Despite the force of their leaps, they are able to clutch the limbs they aim for.

Some of the natives of India regard these monkeys as holy. No believer in the old religious lore will kill one of them. For this reason the "holy apes" become tame. They help themselves to growing vegetables, and are a nuisance in general.

Now and then a band of "holy apes" will pay a visit to a town and take some exercises on the roofs of buildings. When they grow hungry, they visit the shops. The shopkeepers do not dare to kill them so "a good time is enjoyed by all." These monkeys are "vegetarians." They do not eat insects, birds or any kind of meat, but they make short work of grain and fruit.

The "horned" monkey is another interesting animal. He does not have real horns, but there are little tufts of hair on top of his head which gave him the name. (For Nature section of your scrapbook).

Air Defences At Vancouver Debated

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 9.—Fear that the location of the Royal Canadian Air Force station at Jericho Beach here would create a danger to the population of the locality in case of an air attack moved the Federated Ratepayers' Association to protest to the City Council yesterday.

The association informed the council by letter that in Great Britain the government's policy was to do away with urban airports.

Aldermen expressed the opinion the objectors had not familiarized themselves with the subject, and Alderman Fred Crane was instructed to draft a reply.

MAINTENANCE OF ORDER

Ottawa, March 9 (Canadian Press).—The government is taking all steps within its jurisdiction to maintain peace and order in Canada," Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, declared in the House of Commons yesterday. He was answering the question: "Is the government taking steps at present to prevent the Communist Party in carrying on its propaganda work in Canada?"

Big Increase in Surplus of C.P.R.

Gross Earnings of Company During Last Year Increased By Over $8,000,000.

Canadian Press
Montreal, March 9.—An increase of more than $8,000,000 in the Canadian Pacific Railway's surplus was reported yesterday by the railway in a preliminary statement on its combined operations for 1936.

The report, issued after a directors' meeting, showed the balance transferred to profit and loss account for the year ended December 31 was $6,029,184, a rise of $3,197,100 over the 1935 figure.

Gross earnings for the year, the preliminary report stated, increased by $8,883,859. The 1936 gross was $138,562,763, as against $129,678,904.

Net earnings were up by $919,587. Deduction of working expenses, including taxes, from the gross left $23,311,111 as net, compared with $22,397,524 for the previous year.

STEAMSHIP EARNINGS

To this figure was added other income, from dividends, net earnings from ocean and coastal steamships before depreciation, net earnings from hotel and communications and other items. The total for other income was $10,198,522, an increase over 1935's $8,145,494.

Fixed charges, amounting to $23,913,294 and depreciation in ocean and coastal steamships of $3,567,151 were subtracted to arrive at the amount transferred to profit and loss.

The fixed charges decreased by $246,639, while the steamship depreciation figure was up $16,154.

The statement indicated an increase of more than $1,000,000 in dividends on investments. The 1936 figure was $3,901,187 as against $2,649,720.

Revenues grouped under the heading of "other income" also showed increases, except in the cases of net earnings from hotel, communication and miscellaneous properties. Interest, exchange and separately operated properties brought $1,287,598 compared with $793,605 the year before. Before depreciation, ocean and coastal steamships produced net earnings of $3,533,068, up about $220,000. Net earnings from hotel, communication and miscellaneous was $1,456,649, down slightly less than $10,000.

The report points out that, after the end of the year, a preferred stock dividend of 1 per cent was declared from the 1936 earnings, payable April 1 of this year.

Mrs. Manuel Quezon Is Aboard Empress

Associated Press
Honolulu, March 9.—Mrs. Manuel L. Quezon, wife of the president of the Philippine Commonwealth, arrived yesterday with her party by the Ss. Empress of Japan, and continued on to Victoria.

Mrs. Quezon is en route to Washington, D.C., from Manila to join her husband, who is engaged in Philippine-American negotiations concerning trade and other matters.

Engineer Formerly on Breakwater Contract Here Arrives From Singapore

Frederick Knight, sub-agent for Sir John Jackson Limited at Singapore, arrived in Victoria today on a short visit. He is at the Empress Hotel with Mrs. Knight.

They traveled across the Pacific aboard the N.Y.K. liner Hiye Maru, which reached Vancouver yesterday.

Mr. Knight recalled that it was nineteen years ago since he was connected with the construction of the Ogden Point breakwater here, built by Sir John Jackson Limited.

He has since been associated with the same company in the construction of the impregnable British naval base at Singapore, which is now practically complete.

Sir John Jackson Limited specializes in large naval and military construction projects, and has handled a number of important contracts in Canada.

Explaining he was last here three years ago, Mr. Knight said he was keeping in touch with Victoria, of which he had such pleasant recollections.

He proposes to return to the Far East by the end of the month, being scheduled to sail March 29 from San Francisco.

Liner Thrown "Off Balance"

Official Explanation Is Made Of Sea That Struck Giant Italian Lines Rex Off Azores

Associated Press

Genoa, Italy, March 9.—Two American passengers were injured seriously when the Italian liner Rex was thrown "off balance" last Thursday in mountainous seas near St. Vincent, Azores Islands, the Italian Line announced officially today.

At least fifteen other Americans suffered less severe injuries, Genoa sources disclosed. Two persons were killed.

Those seriously hurt are: Joseph James Crowley of Washington, D.C., who had a broken thigh, and Alfred Sirio, address unstated.

The official report of the Italian Line of the ship accident said:

"During twelve hours of navigating in most tempestuous seas near St. Vincent in the Azores Islands, a gigantic wave threw the ship off balance.

"Twenty tourists were injured and a member of the crew was killed."

TWO KILLED?

Other sources agreed that two persons, a seaman and an Italian passenger, were killed, and that as many as seventy persons were hurt during the voyage.

AMERICAN DESCRIBES SCENE

I. S. Powers of Terre Haute, Ind., describing the accident aboard the 51,062-ton liner, pride of the Italian merchant marine, said that for a while "the sea had been somewhat rough, but not violent."

"A great number of first-class passengers were in the state lounge room seeing motion pictures."

"Suddenly the boat reeled, struck with immeasurable force. Men and women passengers and ship's attendants went careening across the floor in a heap of scrambled chairs and screaming people."

"After that single blow, the boat righted itself, the passengers picked themselves up and the show went on while attendants carried out the passenger who was seriously injured."

A new way of carrying a raincoat is in a belt, which is provided with a hollow tube to hold the thin oil-silk coat.

LIKES JOB AT LONELY LIGHT

Carmanah Point Lighthouse Keeper Rejoins Wife in Victoria

"I wouldn't change it for any other job," is what P. Copeland has to say about keeping the lighthouse at Carmanah Point, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, at the entrance to the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

Mr. Copeland arrived at the Dominion Hotel yesterday for his annual vacation. In Victoria he has rejoined his wife who left their west coast home in January, and who will return with him to the lighthouse shortly.

For Mr. and Mrs. Copeland and the assistant who is the only other inhabitant of the lonely point, there is plenty of work to be done and little chance of boredom, according to Mr. Copeland. In addition to the tending and cleaning of the lighthouse equipment there is always the matter of the colony's woodpile to keep them busy.

This winter has been a mild one at Carmanah Point, with snow on the ground for only three or four days. Copeland said, "It was not near the winter it was the year before," said Mr. Copeland.

Normandie Is Held By Strike

Waterfront Workers at French Port Tie Up All Shipping in Walkout

Associated Press

Le Havre, France, March 9.—Waterfront workers called a seventy-two-hour strike today, tying up all French ships in port, including the liner Normandie, due to sail tomorrow for New York with 500 passengers.

The French Line denied reports the strikers had occupied the Normandie and said only guards were aboard.

About twenty ships in all were affected by the strike, called because the strikers were dissatisfied with an 11 per cent wage increase.

Waterfront Notes

The Donaldson Line's new motorship Salacia is expected to reach Victoria on her maiden voyage towards the end of September. She is of 9,000 deadweight tons and is the latest in naval architecture. There is accommodation for a few passengers, which is a new departure for ships of this fleet plying between the Pacific Coast and Europe.

The freighter Swanby will reach Cowichan Bay tomorrow morning to load 800,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom.

Arrival here of the Italian vessel Rialto has been delayed until this evening. She will commence loading 250,000 feet of lumber at Ogden Point tomorrow morning.

Ships may come and ships may go, but the Princess Victoria seems to go on forever. Now the oldest "Princess" in service, she was put into the Esquimalt drydock this morning for overhaul.

On Friday she will go to Nanaimo to relieve the Princess Elaine, which will come to Victoria for seasonal overhaul. The Princess Louise is expected to leave this evening for Vancouver to take over the Princess Adelaide's Vancouver-Prince Rupert service, while the latter ship is in Victoria for overhaul.

The Princess Mary came out of the drydock at Esquimalt this morning after an overnight visit for propeller repairs.

Tenders for dredging at Victoria have been called by the Federal Department of Public Works and will close with J. P. Forde, district engineer, at the Post Office Building in New Westminster, March 15. The contract will involve the removal of approximately 8,440 cubic yards of material from the Inner Harbor.

The lighthouse tender Estevan returned to her base in the Inner Harbor early this morning after repairing lights and buoys in the Gulf of Georgia. After two or three days in port she will return to the Gulf.

AIR DEFENCE TO COST $29,255,000

Increase of $19,500,000 in British 1937 Raid Precaution Expenditures

Canadian Press

London, March 9.—British proposes to spend $25,851,000 ($29,255,000) on air raid precautions in 1937.

The expenditure refers to the protection of the civilian population. The largest item, $3,996,000, is for equipment and materials. Gas mask factories call for an expenditure of $61,000.

The total vote shows an increase of $3,900,000 ($19,500,000) over 1936.
